Mr. Ford in Wall Street.
In Great St. Peters.
The Lord Have Mercy.
Only Human Babies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

There's a new bank in Wall street, and Edsel Ford, they say, will run it. That agitates the Wall street gentlemen, as the hens are agitated when a weasel wiggles into the coop.

Henry Ford's son is only a director in the parents company, the Guardian Trust Co. of Detroit. But, when one of the Fords get into an enterprise, that enterprise soon becomes all Ford.

Recently Wall street sent to Detroit with the idea of taking over the Fords. Now, the Fords go into Wall street, and the more ready cash behind them than anybody else in the United States possesses, they worry that home of the mighty dollar.

Forty thousand worshipers and members of the clergy from all over the world, including Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia, gathered in St. Peter's in Rome and witnessed a most magnificent spectacle.

The pope, carried on his golden throne to the great altar of twisted columns, formerly admitted St. Theresa of Normandy, known as "Theresa of the Infant Jesus," to the fellowship of Catholic saints.

Those who do not know St. Peter's most magnificent monument to Michael Angelo's supreme genius, obtain a slight idea of its size in reading of the 40,000 that easily find room inside its walls and of the solemn procession of cardinals, archbishops, bishops and priests of all orders, up the aisle. The procession lasted for more than three hours.

A contrast between the old and the new was the thousands of candles of wax—not electric lights—with which the dome of St. Peter's was decorated, its first illumination in more than half a century, and the pope from the throne of pure white addressing the throng, with a modern amplifier carrying his voice to every corner of the great cathedral.

Various royalties sat on special seats reserved for sovereigns. And Timothy Healy, governor-general of Ireland, sat on the tribune reserved for the heads of states.

That was an interesting sight of those who remember the days of 40 years ago, when Healy, in the house of commons, was fighting for home rule.

Interesting reminders of ancient days were the presents made to the pope by the Carmelite order, to which St. Theresa belonged, a silver cask of wine, a cage of two white doves, mother with five small birds, candles and loaves of bread on gold and silver platters.

Interesting also was the appearance of the bronze statue of St. Peter dressed for the occasion in a magnificent red robe, holding in his hand the famous jewels, tira and gold emblem of the sacred heart.

Mighty is the power of faith and imagination combined.

Yesterday in Pennsylvania, William Cavalier, 15 years old, and a murderer, was sentenced to die in the electric chair. The sentence wound up with "and may the Lord have mercy on your soul." The reporters thought the boy winced a little at that, and at the words about "death—electric current—passed through body—until dead." The boy smiled as he left the court, and a few minutes later, in his cell, he was playing a popular song, "Katerina," on his phonograph.

Fred Lenning, warden in charge of the young criminal, said: "Listen to that music. He doesn't know what

Cement Contractor Injured When His Auto Overturns

F. M. Crawford, cement contractor, sustained a slightly injured back, when his automobile—a Ford coupe—overturned on a 15-foot embankment near the corner of McKinnon avenue and the Dixonville road, at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Crawford was enroute up the Dixonville road, traveling, he says, on the right side of the road, when he collided head-on with another machine. The dense fog was blamed.

The Crawford car overturned on the hillside, pinning him beneath it. The machine, badly damaged, was taken to a garage by the McElravy Brothers' wrecker.

Robinson Circus Advertising Car Makes Stop Here

Advertising car No. 1 of the John Robinson Circus was in East Liverpool yesterday, completing the billing for the show which will exhibit here on Friday, June 5.

Because of the filling operations in progress at Patterson field, the show will exhibit on the Columbiana park grounds in the East End, it was announced. Representatives of the circus, who measured the Patterson field lot, declared that the field would not accommodate the "big top" alone.

It is not likely that the show will parade because of the long haul from the show grounds to the downtown business section.

Alleged "Other Woman" and Gun Wielder's Father and Mother are Victims When Infuriated Daughter Opens Fire With Revolver as She Maintains Midnight Watch on Couple.

"YOU'VE BROKEN UP OUR HOME" SHE CRIES AS GUN'S BARK IS HEARD

Wife, Yelling and Running Toward Daughter, Throws Self Forward and Stops Bullet Intended for Chicago Man Who Had Played False to His Marriage Vows.

CHICAGO, May 20—Two women were wounded, one perhaps fatally, and a man was less seriously hurt here today as a result of a 15-year-old high school girl's dealing out of "justice" from the barrel of a .38 calibre revolver.

Her victims were: Miss Anna Simneck, 28, the alleged "other woman," who, the girl charges had infatuated her father, William Wunsch, her father, and Birdie, his wife, who threw herself in front of her infuriated daughter and received a bullet intended for her husband.

The girl, Lucille Wunsch, is being held by police.

The shooting took place in the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Trapp, Riverdale, with whom Miss Simneck made her home.

It was there that the daughter and mother had gone to spy on the father and husband whose alleged indiscretions with Miss Simneck, said to have extended over a period of two years, had been discovered by Lucille and reported to her mother.

Wait in Darkness.

All through a long night, they waited in the darkness until about midnight, they heard the crunching footsteps on the gravel walk which told of some one approaching. Lucille's hand stole under the cape she was wearing and as her father and Miss Simneck round the corner, her father's arm around his alleged affinity the gun which she had carried with her spoke once—a staccato bark on the stillness of the quiet Chicago suburb.

"You've broken up our home," a childish voice cried out stridently on the night air.

Tattling Tongues Of "Main Street" Prompt Shooting

CHICAGO, May 20.—The insidious poison of tattling tongues along a quiet village "Main Street"—This was what swept fire into the veins of 16-year-old Lucille Wunsch and guided the pistol which just midnight spat vengeance on the "other woman" who had made her mother cry and the father to whom a new passion had come in the "dangerous forties" when the toil of earlier years had given place to a luxury of comparative wealth.

Snubs of companions in the Thornton township high school where she was a junior; whisperings as she passed down the street which told of a triangle too deep for her understanding brought her to the point of crime. This was revealed today as she sat crying softly in her cell in the Riverdale jail.

THINGS HUM IN ONTARIO ON EVE OF ADVENT OF SALE OF REAL BEER

Eager Canadians Brush Off Long Unused Bars to Prepare for Rush of Thirsty Americans.

DETROIT, Mich., May 20.—Over in Ontario today things are humming.

Eager Canadians, keyed up to the task, are brushing dust off long unused bars and watch it hover in a swirl of dryness in hollow rooms. They laugh at the humor of it, for tomorrow afternoon the humidity of 4.4 per cent beer will absorb the remaining remnants of dryness and the rooms will be set reverberating with American voices.

Promptly at 12:01 o'clock tomorrow the great American race will be on. At that hour Ontario statutes will permit of the taking of casks and casks of the 4.4 per cent beverage from government warehouses. It will be sped by fast trucks to border city bars of the province and the clink of Canadian schupers and American money will merge merrily.

Barrooms in Windsor.

Over in Windsor, which is expecting the bulk of American trade, licensed barrooms have been set up. In the Prince Edward hotel, a large basement room has been made to resemble an old fashioned English tap room. The clerk's desk at the King George hotel has been moved to the second floor and the lobby stands dedicated to the sale of the amber beverage. The British-American hotel has added 35 tables in anticipation of the rush. All in all, the 12 Windsor hotels to which licenses have been granted, will accommodate 5,000 persons.

Today came the announcement that Albert Dewey Wells, the American vice consul at Windsor, has sponsored the establishment of the American club. A year's lease on a $75,000 private residence has been secured, and the club has been organized by 15 charter members — most of them Americans in Windsor. The small initiation fee of $10 and dues of $2 a month owe their meagerness to the fact that the club expects to sustain itself by the sale of the new beer.

Novelist Ibanez's Son Arrested.

PARIS, May 20.—Siegfried Lascos Ibanez, second son of the famous Spanish novelist, was arrested last Sunday believed as a reprisal against his father's attacks on King Alphonso it was learned today.

So-called "Four Percent" Beer No More Than "Chaser"

CLEVELAND, May 20.—United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen today predicted a short life for the expected great rush to Canada for "4.4 per cent" beer.

"The beer that will be legally sold will be no more than a good chaser for whisky," Bernsteen said and went further to explain that the American way of figuring beer would make the Canadian beer only 2.2 per cent by volume. "The Canadian way of figuring beer is by weight and ours by volume. The difference is exactly half, so there won't be such a great kick," Bernsteen declared.

TWO STATE DRY AGENTS SEARCH FIVE HOMES IN LISBON VISIT

James Miller Pleads Guilty and is Fined $750.

ONE POSTS BOND

Corn Liquor Dug Out of Spoil Banks of Coal Stripping.

Five places were searched, one plea of guilty was entered, another suspect was released under bond for a hearing Tuursday night and two other men were questioned, as a result of a surprise visit of two state prohibition agents in Lisbon yesterday.

The liquor investigators came to Lisbon following a morning trip to Salem.

James Miller, residing near the Miller stripping operation on the Lisbon-Leetonia road, pleaded guilty of possession of liquor in the court of Mayor Frank E. Albrecht, and was fined $750, half of which he paid. He made arrnagements to pay the balance.

When Miller was taken into custody, two other Lisbon men were questioned at the village building. As a result of the conference, the charge was filed against Miller.

Eight quarts of corn liquor were dug out of the spoil banks by one of the state agents and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township. Marshal Roy Lewton and a second state man, working on other banks, found no contraband. The bottles, covered with slime, were taken to the Mayor's office.

After this raid the raiders went to the "chewing gum" factory, located on the Lisbon-East Liverpool road near the Beaver Creek bridge Lincoln highway, and searched the place of George Bell. Nothing was found there.

They went to the south side of this building, and Nick Buta was found sitting on the porch of his home. The raiders, going to the bank of Beaver Creek, unearthed a five-gallon jug of whisky.

Sticks Mark Liquor Cache.

Buta was taken to the mayor's office. He denied he owned the liquor and posted bond for his appearance Thursday night. He has retained Attorney Charles C. Connell.

"Here's your jug, you want to take it with you?" one of the state raiders inquired when Buta was about to leave the office of Mayor Albrecht last night.

"No mine," he responded.

After the Buta raid the party went to the county home of Steve Davner, but found no evidence of a violation.

Two other search warrants have been issued.

Spots where the bottles of whisky were buried in the spoil banks at the Miller stripping operation were marked by sticks and clumps of sod. There was no evidence obtained by the searching party that the liquor was manufactured on the premises, it being the opinion of the state agents that the liquor was taken there from Youngstown.

JAMES HODGKINSON, C. & P. TICKET AGENT, "JACK HOLT'S DOUBLE," HAS "MILLION DOLLAR SMILE"

James Hodgkinson, Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad ticket agent, "Jack Holt's double," has a "million dollar smile," says the Pennsylvania News, published at Pittsburgh for the benefit of all Pennsylvania railroad employes.

James Hodgkinson

In the current issue, the editor pays this tribute to East Liverpool and the city's ticket agent:

"East Liverpool, O., on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division, is the oldest pottery town in America. There, in 1839, was the first pottery established, and there too, today, is the newest and largest pottery in the world. It is a town of potteries and potters, and potters are fine people.

In East Liverpool they make pretty dishes by the million, and in addition to making fine ware the potters travel extensively, also. Singularly, too, that the ticket agent there, one of the finest and best ticket agents in the United States and none other than the genial 'Jim' Hodgkinson should be a master potter.

Prince Among Men.

"To the people of East Liverpool and thereabouts Jim is known as the ticket agent with 'The Million Dollar Smile,' 'Double of Jack Holt the Movie Star,' 'Prince Among Men,' and a lot of other good things too numerous to mention. It may be possible that there are other ticket agents who possess a keener appreciation of the finer ethics in handling patrons; it may also be possible that there were better potters who worked at the bench when Hodgkinson did years ago, the writer doubts it, but it is hardly possible that a finer potter would be again found who would have a vision of service in the railroad world, a vision born across the sea, and leave the interesting profession of turning out beautiful things at the wheel for the like interesting profession of selling tickets to thousands of his profession on the other side of the world from his boyhood home.

"Jim" has worked on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania Railroad system for 21 years. From the potteries of Elturia in far away North Staffordshire, England, he came to us. The son of a potter, he learned the art of making the famous Jaspar ware, Queensware, and Royal Ironstone Bone China, and he dreamed, as his wheel turned before him, this little English boy, of a bright future in far off America and a job on the railroad in the land of the "Stars and Stripes."

"His brother, William was a pointsman, i. e., switch or leverman, and his Uncle John an engineer on the London and Northwestern railroad in England.

"At the tender age of 14 years among James left his dear old home on the Isles and took passage to America, the land of his dreams. He landed and came to East Liverpool, the pottery center of the United States, to seek a job as a potter. Not only did he find it, and worked as a potter for a time, but he found his star of hope materialize.

"He got a position on the C. & P. division, and immediately there beamed over his face the smile that has been there ever since, the smile that the 135,917 people who bought tickets at his window in one short twelve-month period learned to speak of as "The Million Dollar Smile," the smile which the writer has caught with his camera.

'Jim' loves the Pennsylvania Railroad and the people, his people of East Liverpool, and they in turn love him. The writer knows. I heard his name mentioned over a hundred times while there and one thing I know, I am sure of, and that is "Jim" Hodgkinson's place, his shoes, and his ticket window is going to be mighty hard for the next man to fill when "Jim" makes out his own ticket for the land of his reward.

Knows The Potter's Heart

Being a potter himself, he knows the problems, the joys, the sorrows, and the ideals of the potters and caters to them in a way that makes him admired and respected by business men, and women, and loved by little children. His office force has

The ladies' auxiliary of Private Eddy post No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will sell poppies here next Saturday, the campaign to be directed by Mrs. Laura Hughes. Headquarters for the day will be maintained in the lobby of the Little building.

McClintock Death Inquiry Leads to Bribery Count Hint

CHICAGO, May 20.—The Shepherd-McClintock cauldron was set seething again here this afternoon with an unheralded announcement that the grand jury would be called for special session this afternoon at 3 o'clock to "take up matters pertaining to the Shepherd case."

An electric tension, seething with rumors, followed the announcement.

"An indictment for bribery," this was the gossip on all tongues about the court house.

When Taylor failed to return to his home early this morning, his wife notified Mayor Smith and a searching party was organized.

PROSECUTORS INSTRUCTED TO TURN BIG GUNS ON OBSCENE MAGAZINES

Acting Upon W. C. T. U. Request, Attorney General Calls Upon Local Officials to Stop Sale of "Unfit Reading."

COLUMBUS, May 20.—Attorney General Crabbe today advised county prosecutors throughout the state that it is up to the local officials to enforce the Ohio statute prohibiting circulation of obscene magazines and papers.

After citing the law, the attorney general requested each of the officials to exercise diligence in removing such periodicals from news stands.

Crabbe's action was brought about by a letter from Florence D. Richards, president of the Ohio W. C. T. U., naming numerous magazines which she declared were "obscene and unfit reading."

THINGS HUM IN ONTARIO ON EVE OF ADVENT OF SALE OF REAL BEER

Eager Canadians Brush Off Long Unused Bars to Prepare for Rush of Thirsty Americans.

DETROIT, Mich., May 20.—Over in Ontario today things are humming.

Eager Canadians, keyed up to the task, are brushing dust off long unused bars and watch it hover in a swirl of dryness in hollow rooms. They laugh at the humor of it, for tomorrow afternoon the humidity of 4.4 per cent beer will absorb the remaining remnants of dryness and the rooms will be set reverberating with American voices.

Promptly at 12:01 o'clock tomorrow the great American race will be on. At that hour Ontario statutes will permit of the taking of casks and casks of the 4.4 per cent beverage from government warehouses. It will be sped by fast trucks to border city bars of the province and the clink of Canadian schupers and American money will merge merrily.

Barrooms in Windsor.

Over in Windsor, which is expecting the bulk of American trade, licensed barrooms have been set up. In the Prince Edward hotel, a large basement room has been made to resemble an old fashioned English tap room. The clerk's desk at the King George hotel has been moved to the second floor and the lobby stands dedicated to the sale of the amber beverage. The British-American hotel has added 35 tables in anticipation of the rush. All in all, the 12 Windsor hotels to which licenses have been granted, will accommodate 5,000 persons.

Today came the announcement that Albert Dewey Wells, the American vice consul at Windsor, has sponsored the establishment of the American club. A year's lease on a $75,000 private residence has been secured, and the club has been organized by 15 charter members — most of them Americans in Windsor. The small initiation fee of $10 and dues of $2 a month owe their meagerness to the fact that the club expects to sustain itself by the sale of the new beer.

Novelist Ibanez's Son Arrested.

PARIS, May 20.—Siegfried Lascos Ibanez, second son of the famous Spanish novelist, was arrested last Sunday believed as a reprisal against his father's attacks on King Alphonso it was learned today.

So-called "Four Percent" Beer No More Than "Chaser"

CLEVELAND, May 20.—United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen today predicted a short life for the expected great rush to Canada for "4.4 per cent" beer.

"The beer that will be legally sold will be no more than a good chaser for whisky," Bernsteen said and went further to explain that the American way of figuring beer would make the Canadian beer only 2.2 per cent by volume. "The Canadian way of figuring beer is by weight and ours by volume. The difference is exactly half, so there won't be such a great kick," Bernsteen declared.

TWO STATE DRY AGENTS SEARCH FIVE HOMES IN LISBON VISIT

James Miller Pleads Guilty and is Fined $750.

ONE POSTS BOND

Corn Liquor Dug Out of Spoil Banks of Coal Stripping.

Five places were searched, one plea of guilty was entered, another suspect was released under bond for a hearing Tuursday night and two other men were questioned, as a result of a surprise visit of two state prohibition agents in Lisbon yesterday.

The liquor investigators came to Lisbon following a morning trip to Salem.

James Miller, residing near the Miller stripping operation on the Lisbon-Leetonia road, pleaded guilty of possession of liquor in the court of Mayor Frank E. Albrecht, and was fined $750, half of which he paid. He made arrnagements to pay the balance.

When Miller was taken into custody, two other Lisbon men were questioned at the village building. As a result of the conference, the charge was filed against Miller.

Eight quarts of corn liquor were dug out of the spoil banks by one of the state agents and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township. Marshal Roy Lewton and a second state man, working on other banks, found no contraband. The bottles, covered with slime, were taken to the Mayor's office.

After this raid the raiders went to the "chewing gum" factory, located on the Lisbon-East Liverpool road near the Beaver Creek bridge Lincoln highway, and searched the place of George Bell. Nothing was found there.

They went to the south side of this building, and Nick Buta was found sitting on the porch of his home. The raiders, going to the bank of Beaver Creek, unearthed a five-gallon jug of whisky.

Sticks Mark Liquor Cache.

Buta was taken to the mayor's office. He denied he owned the liquor and posted bond for his appearance Thursday night. He has retained Attorney Charles C. Connell.

"Here's your jug, you want to take it with you?" one of the state raiders inquired when Buta was about to leave the office of Mayor Albrecht last night.

"No mine," he responded.

After the Buta raid the party went to the county home of Steve Davner, but found no evidence of a violation.

Two other search warrants have been issued.

Spots where the bottles of whisky were buried in the spoil banks at the Miller stripping operation were marked by sticks and clumps of sod. There was no evidence obtained by the searching party that the liquor was manufactured on the premises, it being the opinion of the state agents that the liquor was taken there from Youngstown.

JAMES HODGKINSON, C. & P. TICKET AGENT, "JACK HOLT'S DOUBLE," HAS "MILLION DOLLAR SMILE"

James Hodgkinson, Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad ticket agent, "Jack Holt's double," has a "million dollar smile," says the Pennsylvania News, published at Pittsburgh for the benefit of all Pennsylvania railroad employes.

James Hodgkinson

In the current issue, the editor pays this tribute to East Liverpool and the city's ticket agent:

"East Liverpool, O., on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division, is the oldest pottery town in America. There, in 1839, was the first pottery established, and there too, today, is the newest and largest pottery in the world. It is a town of potteries and potters, and potters are fine people.

In East Liverpool they make pretty dishes by the million, and in addition to making fine ware the potters travel extensively, also. Singularly, too, that the ticket agent there, one of the finest and best ticket agents in the United States and none other than the genial 'Jim' Hodgkinson should be a master potter.

Prince Among Men.

"To the people of East Liverpool and thereabouts Jim is known as the ticket agent with 'The Million Dollar Smile,' 'Double of Jack Holt the Movie Star,' 'Prince Among Men,' and a lot of other good things too numerous to mention. It may be possible that there are other ticket agents who possess a keener appreciation of the finer ethics in handling patrons; it may also be possible that there were better potters who worked at the bench when Hodgkinson did years ago, the writer doubts it, but it is hardly possible that a finer potter would be again found who would have a vision of service in the railroad world, a vision born across the sea, and leave the interesting profession of turning out beautiful things at the wheel for the like interesting profession of selling tickets to thousands of his profession on the other side of the world from his boyhood home.

"Jim" has worked on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania Railroad system for 21 years. From the potteries of Elturia in far away North Staffordshire, England, he came to us. The son of a potter, he learned the art of making the famous Jaspar ware, Queensware, and Royal Ironstone Bone China, and he dreamed, as his wheel turned before him, this little English boy, of a bright future in far off America and a job on the railroad in the land of the "Stars and Stripes."

"His brother, William was a pointsman, i. e., switch or leverman, and his Uncle John an engineer on the London and Northwestern railroad in England.

"At the tender age of 14 years among James left his dear old home on the Isles and took passage to America, the land of his dreams. He landed and came to East Liverpool, the pottery center of the United States, to seek a job as a potter. Not only did he find it, and worked as a potter for a time, but he found his star of hope materialize.

"He got a position on the C. & P. division, and immediately there beamed over his face the smile that has been there ever since, the smile that the 135,917 people who bought tickets at his window in one short twelve-month period learned to speak of as "The Million Dollar Smile," the smile which the writer has caught with his camera.

'Jim' loves the Pennsylvania Railroad and the people, his people of East Liverpool, and they in turn love him. The writer knows. I heard his name mentioned over a hundred times while there and one thing I know, I am sure of, and that is "Jim" Hodgkinson's place, his shoes, and his ticket window is going to be mighty hard for the next man to fill when "Jim" makes out his own ticket for the land of his reward.

CRISIS NEAR IN RIFF WAR

Tribesmen Mass for Decisive Battle in French Morocco.

PARIS, May 20.—Dispatches from Fez today indicated the situation in French Morocco was rapidly approaching a crisis with Riffian tribesmen massing for a decisive battle with augmented forces of French soldiers.

Abd-El-Kirm, Riff leader and sometimes known as the "Robin Hood of the desert," has ordered conscription of his troops and a general mobilization of the entire Riff strength, the dispatch stated.

The French were reported to be receiving heavy reinforcements and to be concentrating areoplanes in an effort to reassure native tribes which are of doubtful loyalty and which the French feared might join Abd-El-Kirm.

FRENCH DEBT OFFER LOOMS

Painleve Will Announce Policy Toward U. S. Bill on Saturday.

PARIS, May 20.—By Saturday the French government expects to make known its policy regarding its war debt to the United States. A high official of the finance ministry said today that the government expected by that time to complete a draft of its proposal to Washington as a basis for negotiations.

President Painleve of the chamber of deputies, Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand, as a result of their meeting yesterday, have decided to call into their discussions the financial experts, Jacques Seydoux and Philippe Berthelot, this authority said.

"You can say," said this official, "that the war debt question is in a 'technical' stage internally, because the French government is working out a technical basis for negotiation. Internationally, the negotiations between the United States and France have not reached a 'technical' stage, being still in a 'diplomatic' stage of conversations between United States Ambassador Herrick, Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand."

MURDERS GIRL, KILLS HIMSELF

Double Tragedy Occurs in Cleveland Rooming House.

CLEVELAND, May 20.—Marie Porringer, 28, a comely Youngstown girl, was murdered today by her alleged lover, Peter Nunnara, 32, of Cleveland, who then committed suicide. The double tragedy occurred at an East Side rooming house.

Police thus far have been unable to learn anything that sheds light upon the crime. Nunnara and Miss Porringer last night went to a room at an East Side address. This morning the landlady heard shots. Rushing to the room, she found Miss Porringer dead, and Nunnara dying. Miss Porringer had been shot three times. Nunnara died on his way to the hospital.

Two telegrams, signed by the girl, were found in the room. One dated Youngstown, May 4, read:

"Wire fare if you want me back. Sorry this happened."

The second was dated the following day and read:

"Leaving on the 2 o'clock bus. Meet me at East Ninth street."

TODAY

it's all about." You may truly say the same of a system of "justice" that sentences to death a feeble-minded boy of 15.

A New York lady ran a baby farm. The babies died rapidly, especially if their board bills were not paid. One poor infant dug up after burial had a fractured skull. The rate of mortality was horrible.

If anybody kept such a farm for baby dogs or cats, the "cruelty to animals society" would probably supervise and regulate it. How does it happen that the so-called Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children knew nothing about the baby farm or its deaths?

Congress will vote for the newest censorship, which will be a censorship on foreign credit. Nations not paying us what they owe won't be allowed to borrow from American citizens. That's one part of the plan.

And, private American loans to European nations will be forbidden if the money is to be spent for war or war preparation.

That worries some of our debtor friends in Europe, and they have another worry. They owe gigantic sums to Great Britain and the British say:

If you pay the United States, you must pay us, dollar for dollar.

Three Are Shot

moonlight sky, the smoking gun clutched in her hand.

Wunsch yelled and ran toward his daughter. The gun was lowered menacingly but just as the childish finger squeezed the trigger, Mrs. Wunsch threw herself forward, stopping the bullet intended for the man who had played false to his vows.

Remorse Over Mother's Wound.

But Lucille was in a frenzy. She paid no heed to mother's voice which cried out pleadingly:

"Lucille, Lucille, why did you do it? Why didn't you tell me about the gun."

Another shot and the gun was emptied, and the father had been added to the list of victims.

Wunsch and his wife were taken to a hospital, where it was said both probably would recover. Miss Simneck, however, was found to have suffered bullet wounds in both lungs and physicians say they believe she would die.

Lucille, oldest of five children, was being held on an open charge today while police decide what disposition to make of her case.

Since taken into custody she has showed remorse only for the wounding of her mother.

Of her father and Miss Simneck, she said:

"They cheated me and lied. They deserved what they got."

So far, partly because of the girl's highly nervous condition and partly because, pending the outcome of the injuries of her victims, police are at a loss as to just what disposition to make of her case, she has not been questioned to any extent. This afternoon, however, according to police, she will be asked to explain the details of her midnight attack.

And one aim of the examination, police say, will be to determine positively that it was she and not her mother, Mrs. Birdie Wunsch, who fired the shots from which Anna Simneck, 28, William Wunsch's alleged affinity, is dying at a hospital.

Before lapsing into unconsciousness from which physicians say she probably never will revive, Miss Simneck may have been referring to Lucille.

"The woman shot me. The woman shot me."

This, police at first believed, indicated the mother had fired the shots but the girl's statement and the fact that the mother also suffered a minor wound, led them to believe Miss Simneck may have been refereing to Lucille.

Events Leading Up To Shooting

The story of the events leading up to the shooting, as related over back yard fences, time and again, are, Riverdale holds, substantially as follows:

"Wunsch, in the late forties, possessed of wealth accumulated through a 20-year upward fight from comparative poverty, during which his wife had helped and saved to raise the family of five, met Miss Simneck two years ago at a social affair.

Miss Simneck is pretty, wears clothes well, and talks, or rather talked, in the vivacious manner of the girl of the new generation, on many subjects and always to Wunsch in an interesting vein.

To the man worn in the groves of years of routine toil, she represented mental change, relaxation and companionship of a sort that his aging wife did not afford.

Miss Simneck began to be seen about in the Wunsch automobile—and village tongues began to wag.

Wife Demands Explanation.

Faint whispers of this and that came to Mrs. Wunsch but she refused to believe them, until at last, she saw for herself and demanded an explanation. It came, brutally, in words that told her she was "growing old" and that she "hadn't progressed."

She turned then to the woman, Riverdale will tell you, and warned her:

"Keep away from my husband."

This was 18 months ago and Miss Simneck's only answer then is said to have been:

"Why don't you keep him away from me?"

A year ago came the first open clash, according to the records in Riverdale gossip's ledger. Neighbors told Mrs. Wunsch they "wouldn't stand for it," for in Riverdale anyone's business is very much everybody's business.

And Mrs. Wunsch, driven by worry and a growing hatred of the "other woman," waited one night until she found Miss Simneck and Wunsch together. With a hat pin and goaded the home of George Trapp, her step-by rage, she drove Miss Simneck to father, with whom she made her home.

Then word of the triangle came to Lucille. A girl companion at school remarked:

"I won't talk to her. Her father carries on so."

Lucille, stung deeply, walked home to ask of her mother:

"Why?"

"Why don't they invite me to parties anymore?" she asked, her big black eyes clouded with a question she could not answer. "And why do they talk about father so?"

The mother thought it best to explain and Lucille emerged from the talk with her mother with her first knowledge of life as it is lived.

And she brooded.

Daughter and Mother Wait.

Last night her father left home at 8 o'clock "to attend a meeting of the village board"—he was a town trustee—and a short time later Lucille called the Trapp home on the telephone and asked for "Anna." Anna, she was told, was "out for the evening."

She sought out her mother and together they went to the Trapp home to wait. Minutes passed into hours and finally, after most of Riverdale was asleep, after the clock in the little town church had struck midnight, Wunsch and Miss Simneck, their arms around each other, came down the drive.

It was then that the girl's spirit flared, then that her hand tightened on the gun she carried concealed beneath her cloak, then that she sought "justice" for her mother from the muzzle of the .38 caliber revolver.

Father Cheated, Says Girl

CHICAGO, May 20.—"Mother's praying for me because mother believes in God.

"She went through all the hard years with my father, pinching and scraping to clothe us five children and then he cheated with her for a pretty face.

"They tell me this Anna may die. I'm sorry, of course, but I'd rather she dies than live and make my mother unhappy again."

This is the philosophy which poured from the lips of 15-year old Lucille Wunsch today as she sat in a police cell awaiting the disposition of her case by the police who charge her with shooting Miss Anna Simneck, her father's alleged affinity; her mother, Mrs. Birdie Wunsch, and her father, William.

Chased Woman With Hatpin.

"It was two years ago," the child continues, her eyes looking out unafraid at her questioners, "that father met this Anna. She lives over at George Trapp's. He's her stepfather She's pretty, prettier and younger than my mother.

"My father and this Anna began to go together. My mother went to George Trapp and told him what was going on. But Trapp didn't do anything.

"And a year ago, my mother caught Anna Simneck and my father together and she ran Anna all the way home with a hatpin. But my father and Anna kept sneaking out to meet each other.

"My mother's eyes have always been red lately from crying. And when she would talk to my father to plead with him to leave Anna alone—she did it when she didn't think I could hear ——— he'd curse her.

"One day I told mother I knew and that I would help her.

"So last night we waited for them to come back to Trapps."

Here the tale breaks. The girl does not discuss the shooting, beginning that event with a brief silence and plunging into its consequences.

"My father will get well," she says, "and"—there is a certain hardness, a hardness beyond the years about her lips—"when he does he'd better be good to my mother."

CERAMIC BOOKS SCHUBERT SHOW

"Artists Models" is Extraordinary Offering on May 26.

New dancing slippers are required by Veronica, the ballet dancer, at every performance of "Artists and Models," coming to the Ceramic theatre, Tuesday, May 26. Hence the shoemaker of the Messrs. Shubert's production staff in New York has a standing order for nine pair a week.

Veronica's slippers are made of flesh-colored satin, and the soles are of imported birch bark, which is thin and pliable, and very easy on the feet. This bark is stripped and curled by the Irish peasants in Killarney, and has been used there for generations in making boot soles. Only recently was it introduced for stage purposes.

Every season brings a new material for ballet slippers. In the past the immortal Genee wore Russian calfskin. Karsavina of the Ballet Russe encased her feet in Swiss goatskin. Badet brought out the chamois slippers. And Pierrozi, ballerina of the opera in Paris, introduced Morroccan leather.

Birch bark slippers are something new, and are worn by Pavlowa, Kosloff, Fokina and other noted dancers. They are hand made, and are stitched with silk thread. After one performance they become soft and soiled and are useless for further ballet dancing. The cast-off slippers are given to the chorus girl, who wear them for their weekly rehearsals.

CRISIS NEAR IN RIFF WAR

Tribesmen Mass for Decisive Battle in French Morocco.

PARIS, May 20.—Dispatches from Fez today indicated the situation in French Morocco was rapidly approaching a crisis with Riffian tribesmen massing for a decisive battle with augmented forces of French soldiers.

Abd-El-Kirm, Riff leader and sometimes known as the "Robin Hood of the desert," has ordered conscription of his troops and a general mobilization of the entire Riff strength, the dispatch stated.

The French were reported to be receiving heavy reinforcements and to be concentrating areoplanes in an effort to reassure native tribes which are of doubtful loyalty and which the French feared might join Abd-El-Kirm.

FRENCH DEBT OFFER LOOMS

Painleve Will Announce Policy Toward U. S. Bill on Saturday.

PARIS, May 20.—By Saturday the French government expects to make known its policy regarding its war debt to the United States. A high official of the finance ministry said today that the government expected by that time to complete a draft of its proposal to Washington as a basis for negotiations.

President Painleve of the chamber of deputies, Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand, as a result of their meeting yesterday, have decided to call into their discussions the financial experts, Jacques Seydoux and Philippe Berthelot, this authority said.

"You can say," said this official, "that the war debt question is in a 'technical' stage internally, because the French government is working out a technical basis for negotiation. Internationally, the negotiations between the United States and France have not reached a 'technical' stage, being still in a 'diplomatic' stage of conversations between United States Ambassador Herrick, Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand."

MURDERS GIRL, KILLS HIMSELF

Double Tragedy Occurs in Cleveland Rooming House.

CLEVELAND, May 20.—Marie Porringer, 28, a comely Youngstown girl, was murdered today by her alleged lover, Peter Nunnara, 32, of Cleveland, who then committed suicide. The double tragedy occurred at an East Side rooming house.

Police thus far have been unable to learn anything that sheds light upon the crime. Nunnara and Miss Porringer last night went to a room at an East Side address. This morning the landlady heard shots. Rushing to the room, she found Miss Porringer dead, and Nunnara dying. Miss Porringer had been shot three times. Nunnara died on his way to the hospital.

Two telegrams, signed by the girl, were found in the room. One dated Youngstown, May 4, read:

"Wire fare if you want me back. Sorry this happened."

The second was dated the following day and read:

"Leaving on the 2 o'clock bus. Meet me at East Ninth street."

it's all about." You may truly say the same of a system of "justice" that sentences to death a feeble-minded boy of 15.

A New York lady ran a baby farm. The babies died rapidly, especially if their board bills were not paid. One poor infant dug up after burial had a fractured skull. The rate of mortality was horrible.

If anybody kept such a farm for baby dogs or cats, the "cruelty to animals society" would probably supervise and regulate it. How does it happen that the so-called Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children knew nothing about the baby farm or its deaths?

Congress will vote for the newest censorship, which will be a censorship on foreign credit. Nations not paying us what they owe won't be allowed to borrow from American citizens. That's one part of the plan.

And, private American loans to European nations will be forbidden if the money is to be spent for war or war preparation.

That worries some of our debtor friends in Europe, and they have another worry. They owe gigantic sums to Great Britain and the British say:

If you pay the United States, you must pay us, dollar for dollar.

Three Are Shot

moonlight sky, the smoking gun clutched in her hand.

Wunsch yelled and ran toward his daughter. The gun was lowered menacingly but just as the childish finger squeezed the trigger, Mrs. Wunsch threw herself forward, stopping the bullet intended for the man who had played false to his vows.

Remorse Over Mother's Wound.

But Lucille was in a frenzy. She paid no heed to mother's voice which cried out pleadingly:

"Lucille, Lucille, why did you do it? Why didn't you tell me about the gun."

Another shot and the gun was emptied, and the father had been added to the list of victims.

Wunsch and his wife were taken to a hospital, where it was said both probably would recover. Miss Simneck, however, was found to have suffered bullet wounds in both lungs and physicians say they believe she would die.

Lucille, oldest of five children, was being held on an open charge today while police decide what disposition to make of her case.

Since taken into custody she has showed remorse only for the wounding of her mother.

Of her father and Miss Simneck, she said:

"They cheated me and lied. They deserved what they got."

So far, partly because of the girl's highly nervous condition and partly because, pending the outcome of the injuries of her victims, police are at a loss as to just what disposition to make of her case, she has not been questioned to any extent. This afternoon, however, according to police, she will be asked to explain the details of her midnight attack.

And one aim of the examination, police say, will be to determine positively that it was she and not her mother, Mrs. Birdie Wunsch, who fired the shots from which Anna Simneck, 28, William Wunsch's alleged affinity, is dying at a hospital.

Before lapsing into unconsciousness from which physicians say she probably never will revive, Miss Simneck may have been referring to Lucille.

"The woman shot me. The woman shot me."

This, police at first believed, indicated the mother had fired the shots but the girl's statement and the fact that the mother also suffered a minor wound, led them to believe Miss Simneck may have been refereing to Lucille.

Events Leading Up To Shooting

The story of the events leading up to the shooting, as related over back yard fences, time and again, are, Riverdale holds, substantially as follows:

"Wunsch, in the late forties, possessed of wealth accumulated through a 20-year upward fight from comparative poverty, during which his wife had helped and saved to raise the family of five, met Miss Simneck two years ago at a social affair.

Miss Simneck is pretty, wears clothes well, and talks, or rather talked, in the vivacious manner of the girl of the new generation, on many subjects and always to Wunsch in an interesting vein.

To the man worn in the groves of years of routine toil, she represented mental change, relaxation and companionship of a sort that his aging wife did not afford.

Miss Simneck began to be seen about in the Wunsch automobile—and village tongues began to wag.

Wife Demands Explanation.

Faint whispers of this and that came to Mrs. Wunsch but she refused to believe them, until at last, she saw for herself and demanded an explanation. It came, brutally, in words that told her she was "growing old" and that she "hadn't progressed."

She turned then to the woman Riverdale will tell you, and warned her:

"Keep away from my husband."

This was 18 months ago and Miss Simneck's only answer then is said to have been:

"Why don't you keep him away from me?"

A year ago came the first open clash, according to the records in Riverdale gossip's ledger. Neighbors told Mrs. Wunsch they "wouldn't stand for it," for in Riverdale anyone's business is very much everybody's business.

And Mrs. Wunsch, driven by worry and a growing hatred of the "other woman," waited one night until she found Miss Simneck and Wunsch together. With a hat pin and goaded the home of George Trapp, her step-by rage, she drove Miss Simneck to father, with whom she made her home.

Then word of the triangle came to Lucille. A girl companion at school remarked:

"I won't talk to her. Her father carries on so."

Lucille, stung deeply, walked home to ask of her mother:

"Why?"

"Why don't they invite me to parties anymore?" she asked, her big black eyes clouded with a question she could not answer. "And why do they talk about father so?"

The mother thought it best to explain and Lucille emerged from the talk with her mother with her first knowledge of life as it is lived.

And she brooded.

Daughter and Mother Wait.

Last night her father left home at 8 o'clock "to attend a meeting of the village board"—he was a town trustee—and a short time later Lucille called the Trapp home on the telephone and asked for "Anna." Anna, she was told, was "out for the evening."

She sought out her mother and together they went to the Trapp home to wait. Minutes passed into hours and finally, after most of Riverdale was asleep, after the clock in the little town church had struck midnight, Wunsch and Miss Simneck, their arms around each other, came down the drive.

It was then that the girl's spirit flared, then that her hand tightened on the gun she carried concealed beneath her cloak, then that she sought "justice" for her mother from the muzzle of the .38 caliber revolver.

Father Cheated, Says Girl

CHICAGO, May 20.—"Mother's praying for me because mother believes in God.

"She went through all the hard years with my father, pinching and scraping to clothe us five children and then he cheated with her for a pretty face.

"They tell me this Anna may die. I'm sorry, of course, but I'd rather she dies than live and make my mother unhappy again."

This is the philosophy which poured from the lips of 15-year old Lucille Wunsch today as she sat in a police cell awaiting the disposition of her case by the police who charge her with shooting Miss Anna Simneck, her father's alleged affinity; her mother, Mrs. Birdie Wunsch, and her father, William.

Chased Woman With Hatpin.

"It was two years ago," the child continues, her eyes looking out unafraid at her questioners, "that father met this Anna. She lives over at George Trapp's. He's her stepfather She's pretty, prettier and younger than my mother.

"My father and this Anna began to go together. My mother went to George Trapp and told him what was going on. But Trapp didn't do anything.

"And a year ago, my mother caught Anna Simneck and my father together and she ran Anna all the way home with a hatpin. But my father and Anna kept sneaking out to meet each other.

"My mother's eyes have always been red lately from crying. And when she would talk to my father to plead with him to leave Anna alone—she did it when she didn't think I could hear ——— he'd curse her.

"One day I told mother I knew and that I would help her.

"So last night we waited for them to come back to Trapps."

Here the tale breaks. The girl does not discuss the shooting, beginning that event with a brief silence and plunging into its consequences.

"My father will get well," she says, "and"—there is a certain hardness, a hardness beyond the years about her lips—"when he does he'd better be good to my mother."

"Artists Models" is Extraordinary Offering on May 26.

New dancing slippers are required by Veronica, the ballet dancer, at every performance of "Artists and Models," coming to the Ceramic theatre, Tuesday, May 26. Hence the shoemaker of the Messrs. Shubert's production staff in New York has a standing order for nine pair a week.

Veronica's slippers are made of flesh-colored satin, and the soles are of imported birch bark, which is thin and pliable, and very easy on the feet. This bark is stripped and curled by the Irish peasants in Killarney, and has been used there for generations in making boot soles. Only recently was it introduced for stage purposes.

Every season brings a new material for ballet slippers. In the past the immortal Genee wore Russian calfskin. Karsavina of the Ballet Russe encased her feet in Swiss goatskin. Badet brought out the chamois slippers. And Pierrozi, ballerina of the opera in Paris, introduced Morroccan leather.

Birch bark slippers are something new, and are worn by Pavlowa, Kosloff, Fokina and other noted dancers. They are hand made, and are stitched with silk thread. After one performance they become soft and soiled and are useless for further ballet dancing. The cast-off slippers are given to the chorus girl, who wear them for their weekly rehearsals.

ISSUE BONDS TO FINISH DAM

Council Passes Ordinance for $38,000 Securities.

An ordinance to issue bonds amounting to $38,000, to provide funds for the completion of the city's water works system, was passed by council last night on first reading.

The absence of two members, Councilmen Nicholson and Ewing, prevented emergency action by the solons on the measure.

The passage of the ordiance followed an explanatory address by William J. Sherman, of the Sherman Enginering Co., of Toledo, in charge of the work, who told why the city must have $38,000 over and above the original bond issue of approximately $25,000.

Approximately $22,000 remains in the special water fund at the present time, which, council was informed, may keep the contractors going until the sale of the new bonds.

Councilmen agreed that it would be better to spend $38,000 more and perfect the system than lose the whole job.

In his talk to solons, Mr. Sherman quoted figures to show the standing of the water works finances.

The cost of the entire project, complete, now is estimated at $286,963.08, he said.

Expenditures to date have amounted to $226,639.15, cash on hand amounts to $22,931.29. Subtracted from the total estimated cost, these figures leave a deficit of $37,392, which will be covered by the bond issue.

Mr. Sherman pointed out that the city spent $11,164.76 before a tap of work was done on the present system. He outlined the expenditures as $1,000 to the Chester Engineering Co., $6,785 to the Knowles Engraving Co., and $3,379.78 to repairs on old water works machinery. All this money, he pointed out, was taken from the original bond issue for the water system that is now being built.

In addition to these costs, he listed a number of "unanticipated expenditures," which, he explained, may be expected in any contract of the nature. These costs amount to $26,227 88.

He explained them figure by figure. New pipe cost $3,399. He explained that contractors had been promised by the city a quantity of 18-inch pipe used by the old reservoir and then, he said, the promise was withdrawn and the contractors were forced to buy over $3,000 worth of pipe, thus boosting the costs. He listed $1,900 as the cost of washout on the work, due entirely to weather conditions. Then, he explained, the state board of health ruled that the water would have to be chlorinated. To do this, it was necessary to spend $1,272.49 for equipment.

Extra foundations cost an additional $8,856.39.

Foundations, he declared, developed unusual expenses and presented extraordinary difficulties at times. In this case, Mr. Sherman explained, it was necessary to get the core wall of the dam down to an impervious strata. There were no "ifs nor ands" about it, Mr. Sherman said, and any other plan was entirely impossible.

Overhead costs due to delays in the completion of the contract were estimated at $10,800. As provided by a clause in the contract, however, the city, it was said, can recover from the contracting company for each day over the time limit for the completion of the contract.

Service-Safety Director A. P. Dennis, as well as City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, asserted that the new water system would make a saving of approximately $20,000 yearly in operating expenses, although, others pointed out, the interest on the $286,000 investment must be considered for a number of years.

Following Mr. Sherman's explanation, the subject was thrown open for discussion for solons and members of the audience as well. J. R. Mosby, Eighteenth street, urged council not to act in haste on the passage of the new bond issue, suggested the appointment of a committee to go into the history of the legislative operations in connection with the whole project, and asserted, that in his belief, the city was not getting its money's worth.

The bond issue will probably be passed on second reading at an adjourned meeting of the solons tomorrow night.

VETS WILL SELL BUDDY POPPIES

"Wear a V. F. W. Buddy Poppy on Memorial Day" is the slogan adopted by Corporal Dan D. Duty post No. 180, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for their annual Memorial Day poppy sale which will be launched here next week. The buddy poppy sale is conducted nationally as well as locally by the Veterans of Foreign Wars each year during the week in which Memorial Day falls.

All the buddy poppies used in the Veterans of Foreign Wars' sale are made by disabled and needy ex-service men and the entire proceeds are used for relief work to alleviate conditions of distress occasioned by sikness or unemployment.

President Coolidge, following the example of the two preceding presidents, has signified his warm accord with the V. F. W. poppy plan. Outstanding women's clubs and patriotic organizations, professional organizations and trades' associations covering practically every branch of industrial and professional life have also expressed their cordial endorsements of the sale.

ASK SOLONS TO 'TURNOUT' MAY 30

Wellsville city council members last night formally accepted the invitation of Wellsville post 70, American Legion, to turn out for the Memorial day ceremonies which will be held by the ex-service men here on Saturday, May 30.

The Legion will hold the usual ceremonies at Fourth and Riverside in the morning, followed by a parade to the cemetery.

LEGION DRIVE TO OPEN JUNE 2

The Wellsville American Legion post's endowment drive for disabled veterans of the World war and orphans will formally be launched on Tuesday, June 2, officials of the organization announced today.

The state-wide drive, however, will not get under way until June 15, as a result of a recent postponement.

The campaign in Ohio originally was scheduled to start the first week in June, but it was pointed out because of poppy sales and Memorial Day ceremonies a great number of the posts will be taxed to the limit, so the opening day was set back.

The Wellsville post, however, having completed arrangements for a June 2 opening, will go ahead on that plan. Because of the added time, slightly different methods will be used. The campaign will start rather quietly, post officers said, and will increase in intensity until Sunday, June 7, when a novelty feature will be introduced.

As a result of the extra period of time, Wellsville post expects to go over the top first.

ADVISES USE OF LICENSE FUNDS

Edward T. Gogo, president of the Columbiana County Motor club, appearing before city council last night, urged that some use be made of $8,880 which is now to the credit of the auto license fund.

He pointed out that this money can be used for no other purpose, under state laws, than for the repair of city streets, and urged that such work be done immediately. He referred to the vast amount of cash invested by Wellsville citizens in automobiles, and expressed the opinion that the auto license money, which is derived directly from the sale of these automobiles, be used now to repair streets over which the vehicles travel.

Expenditures from the auto license fund are controllable only by the service director, and consequently the matter was referred by council to Director A. P. Dennis.

STREET PAVING BONDS ARE SOLD

Approximately $70,000 worth of city improvement bonds, providing funds for the pavement of Lisbon street and Wells avenue, yesterday were sold to the Stranahan, Harris and Otic Co., bond brokers, of Toledo, O.

The Toledo firm topped a list of 14 bidders who submitted proposals for the street bonds. The successful bidders offered a premium of $3,939.70 on the bonds.

The Toledo firm will pay into the city treasury $72,839.70 and actual work on the paving project by the George B. Patterson Co., will be started. This transaction, according to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, should not require more than a week or 10 days.

Of the total amount, $65,000 goes into the street fund for paving work. The interest for the first year, $3 900, plus the premium of $3,939.70, will be deposited in the sinking fund.

ISSUE BONDS TO FINISH DAM

Council Passes Ordinance for $38,000 Securities.

An ordinance to issue bonds amounting to $38,000, to provide funds for the completion of the city's water works system, was passed by council last night on first reading.

The absence of two members, Councilmen Nicholson and Ewing, prevented emergency action by the solons on the measure.

The passage of the ordiance followed an explanatory address by William J. Sherman, of the Sherman Engineering Co., of Toledo, in charge of the work, who told why the city must have $38,000 over and above the original bond issue of approximately $25,000.

Approximately $22,000 remains in the special water fund at the present time, which, council was informed, may keep the contractors going until the sale of the new bonds.

Councilmen agreed that it would be better to spend $38,000 more and perfect the system than lose the whole job.

In his talk to solons, Mr. Sherman quoted figures to show the standing of the water works finances.

The cost of the entire project, complete, now is estimated at $286,963.08, he said.

Expenditures to date have amounted to $226,639.15, cash on hand amounts to $22,931.29. Subtracted from the total estimated cost, these figures leave a deficit of $37,392, which will be covered by the bond issue.

Mr. Sherman pointed out that the city spent $11,164.76 before a tap of work was done on the present system. He outlined the expenditures as $1,000 to the Chester Engineering Co., $6,785 to the Knowles Engraving Co., and $3,379.78 to repairs on old water works machinery. All this money, he pointed out, was taken from the original bond issue for the water system that is now being built.

In addition to these costs, he listed a number of "unanticipated expenditures," which, he explained, may be expected in any contract of the nature. These costs amount to $26,227 88.

He explained them figure by figure. New pipe cost $3,399. He explained that contractors had been promised by the city a quantity of 18-inch pipe used by the old reservoir and then, he said, the promise was withdrawn and the contractors were forced to buy over $3,000 worth of pipe, thus boosting the costs. He listed $1,900 as the cost of washout on the work, due entirely to weather conditions. Then, he explained, the state board of health ruled that the water would have to be chlorinated. To do this, it was necessary to spend $1,272.49 for equipment.

Extra foundations cost an additional $8,856.39.

Foundations, he declared, developed unusual expenses and presented extraordinary difficulties at times. In this case, Mr. Sherman explained, it was necessary to get the core wall of the dam down to an impervious strata. There were no "ifs nor ands" about it, Mr. Sherman said, and any other plan was entirely impossible.

Overhead costs due to delays in the completion of the contract were estimated at $10,800. As provided by a clause in the contract, however, the city, it was said, can recover from the contracting company for each day over the time limit for the completion of the contract.

Service-Safety Director A. P. Dennis, as well as City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, asserted that the new water system would make a saving of approximately $20,000 yearly in operating expenses, although, others pointed out, the interest on the $286,000 investment must be considered for a number of years.

Following Mr. Sherman's explanation, the subject was thrown open for discussion for solons and members of the audience as well. J. R. Mosby, Eighteenth street, urged council not to act in haste on the passage of the new bond issue, suggested the appointment of a committee to go into the history of the legislative operations in connection with the whole project, and asserted, that in his belief, the city was not getting its money's worth.

The bond issue will probably be passed on second reading at an adjourned meeting of the solons tomorrow night.

VETS WILL SELL BUDDY POPPIES

"Wear a V. F. W. Buddy Poppy on Memorial Day" is the slogan adopted by Corporal Dan D. Duty post No. 180, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for their annual Memorial Day poppy sale which will be launched here next week. The buddy poppy sale is conducted nationally as well as locally by the Veterans of Foreign Wars each year during the week in which Memorial Day falls.

All the buddy poppies used in the Veterans of Foreign Wars' sale are made by disabled and needy ex-service men and the entire proceeds are used for relief work to alleviate conditions of distress occasioned by sikness or unemployment.

President Coolidge, following the example of the two preceding presidents, has signified his warm accord with the V. F. W. poppy plan. Outstanding women's clubs and patriotic organizations, professional organizations and trades' associations covering practically every branch of industrial and professional life have also expressed their cordial endorsements of the sale.

ASK SOLONS TO 'TURNOUT' MAY 30

Wellsville city council members last night formally accepted the invitation of Wellsville post 70, American Legion, to turn out for the Memorial day ceremonies which will be held by the ex-service men here on Saturday, May 30.

The Legion will hold the usual ceremonies at Fourth and Riverside in the morning, followed by a parade to the cemetery.

LEGION DRIVE TO OPEN JUNE 2

The Wellsville American Legion post's endowment drive for disabled veterans of the World war and orphans will formally be launched on Tuesday, June 2, officials of the organization announced today.

The state-wide drive, however, will not get under way until June 15, as a result of a recent postponement.

The campaign in Ohio originally was scheduled to start the first week in June, but it was pointed out because of poppy sales and Memorial Day ceremonies a great number of the posts will be taxed to the limit, so the opening day was set back.

The Wellsville post, however, having completed arrangements for a June 2 opening, will go ahead on that plan. Because of the added time, slightly different methods will be used. The campaign will start rather quietly, post officers said, and will increase in intensity until Sunday, June 7, when a novelty feature will be introduced.

As a result of the extra period of time, Wellsville post expects to go over the top first.

ADVISES USE OF LICENSE FUNDS

Edward T. Gogo, president of the Columbiana County Motor club, appearing before city council last night, urged that some use be made of $8,880 which is now to the credit of the auto license fund.

He pointed out that this money can be used for no other purpose, under state laws, than for the repair of city streets, and urged that such work be done immediately. He referred to the vast amount of cash invested by Wellsville citizens in automobiles, and expressed the opinion that the auto license money, which is derived directly from the sale of these automobiles, be used now to repair streets over which the vehicles travel.

Expenditures from the auto license fund are controllable only by the service director, and consequently the matter was referred by council to Director A. P. Dennis.

STREET PAVING BONDS ARE SOLD

Approximately $70,000 worth of city improvement bonds, providing funds for the pavement of Lisbon street and Wells avenue, yesterday were sold to the Stranahan, Harris and Otic Co., bond brokers, of Toledo, O.

The Toledo firm topped a list of 14 bidders who submitted proposals for the street bonds. The successful bidders offered a premium of $3,939.70 on the bonds.

The Toledo firm will pay into the city treasury $72,839.70 and actual work on the paving project by the George B. Patterson Co., will be started. This transaction, according to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, should not require more than a week or 10 days.

Of the total amount, $65,000 goes into the street fund for paving work. The interest for the first year, $3,900, plus the premium of $3,939.70, will be deposited in the sinking fund.

O. K. APPLICATION FOR SCHOLARSHIP

The application of Miss Letha J. Mountain, of Yellow Creek township, for the Wooster college scholarship provided in the will of the late William McCullough, has been approved by the county commissioners.

A copy of the resolution sent by the commissioners to Wooster college, approving Miss Mountain's application has been received by City Clerk George Hardman.

Apply for New Grade.

A petition signed by 10 residents of First street, asking for a new grade on the street, was submitted last night to city council. Solons left the petition in the hands of Safety-Director A. P. Dennis who will investigate.

Auditor Eckfeld's report for last month follows: General fund, $1,565.26; safety, $1,044.21; health, $447.48; service, $1,480.05; water, $3,516.71; cemetery, $1,699.11; library $731.36; special water, $22,830.93; auto license, $8,880.93; cemetery trust, $259.72; final retainer trust, $124.33; sinking fund, $43,139.79.

Defense Day

Objections to combining Armistice Day with National Defense Day are natural and logical. The two do not agree in spirit.

Armistice Day commemorates the glad day that ended the greatest and cruelest of wars. It celebrates peace. Defense Day inevitably suggests war.

Armistice Day looks back upon fighting with a sense of blessed relief that it is over. Defense implies more fighting. It inevitably contemplates new wars.

If we are to have a formal Defense Day, and are to link it with any other national festival instead of giving it a place of its own on the calendar, the best suggestion yet offered is that of President Coolidge, to combine it with the Fourth of July.

The Fourth of July is a fighting day. Along with rejoicing over the blessings and glories of freedom won, it breathes the militant will to perpetuate them.

If Armistice Day is to be united with any other kind of celebration, it should be combined with a national Peace Day.

Bright Lights

What is said to be the most powerful illumination in history will be turned upon Niagara Falls Monday night, May 25, from the Canadian side, in honor of Queen Victoria's birthday. There will be 13,000,000,000 candle-power, reckoned as equivalent to the lighting of 1,333,000 homes if all their lights were burning. The light will be thrown from a battery of two dozen three-foot searchlights of a new type, designed especially for this purpose.

It will be a gorgeous spectacle. And it will greatly impress the 100,000 or more people who are expected to see it. Perhaps, though, it is just as well that the display is not to be continued indefinitely. Those wonderful falls should be lighted up at night, but a few billion less candle-power ought to suffice, and would be easier on the beholders' eyes.

For every day, it is better to use that amount of light to illumine 1,333,000 homes, with their 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 people.

Our civilization is running to excessive illumination, anyway, for spectacular purposes. There are "white ways" and areas of blazing advertising signs that waste current needed in dark highways and homes. Eyes are half-blinded, too, by this overlighting. Soon we may have to wear colored goggles at night in public places.

There are light-maniacs as there are speed maniacs, using up valuable energy to do harm to harassed sense and nerves. Light is good, and the race needs more of it. But it needs the light diffused and softened.

Constitutional Hindenburg

President Von Hindenburg, regarded all his life as a typical militarist and in his present sympathies an avowed monarchist, swears to uphold the German constitution. He could not do otherwise, when installed as president of the German republic. Will he keep his oath?

Presumably he will. For Hindenburg, whatever his faults, is considered, even by his enemies, as an honest man. It does not seem likely that he would have accepted the office if he were not reconciled to using it constitutionally.

There will be strenuous efforts, no doubt, on the part of the extreme monarchists, to win Hindenburg over to a coup-d'etat for the restoration of the empire. But it does not seem likely that Hindenburg will sanction violence, nor that violence will be attempted by the monarchists during his term if he refuses to sanction it.

He may propose, sooner or later, some kind of referendum, submitting the issue to the people by constitutional procedure. There can be no objection to that. The German nation is free to change its constitution if it wants to, in preparation for a change to a constitutional monarchy.

Return to a monarchist system so nearly absolute as that of the Hohenzollerns would alarm the rest of the world. But it is hardly thinkable. Americans naturally want to see the German republic persist. But if the Germans eventually decide in favor of a constitutional monarchy like England's or Italy's, that is their own business.

Tree Day For Trees

Because Arbor Day had degenerated into "a common school holiday" devoted to amusement rather than to tree-planting, the minister of education of the Canadian province of Alberta has decided that it is no longer to be a holiday. Children are to go to school as usual, but the day's work is to be devoted to instruction in the care of trees and forests, the beautification of yards with lawns, shade trees and shrubs, the prevention of forest fires and other allied subjects. If after receiving instruction in tree culture, the schools can then adjourn to the school yards and proceed to practice what they have learned by planting real trees, so much the better, says the minister of education.

Americans do not usually think of Canadian woods as being in need of such widespread conservation activities as our own. It is true, however, that they have been seriously ravaged by forest fires and that depletion of American forests increases the drain on those to the north.

All countries that have trees need to take an interest in conservation and reforestation before this fine natural resource is destroyed.

The Powerful Katrinka's Little Brother— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 20.—Manhattan's touch and go at times becomes just a bit too strenuous. One grows weary of being buffeted about in the maelstrom of traffic. Our manners here may be no more careless than in other bustling centers, but they seem so.

At such times there is a certain Fifth Avenue promenader who offers a welcome relief. I like to think of him as the last aristocrat. He is I imagine in his late sixties. There is a military clip to his white mustache and his cheeks are ruddy with vigor.

His dress is the quiet, immaculate splendor of the gentleman born. I have often watched him leave the dignity of his exclusive club in the late afternoon. He carries that relic of the early nineties—the gold headed cane.

He stops at the florist for a carnation to wear, very brave in his coat lapel. He saunters. He does not push and jostle—a sort of lone maverick in the thundering herd. Now and then he loiters in front of the windows of the private art saloons.

He crosses the street in a leisurely fashion. You sense the charm and delicacy of a man who has learned to live pleasantly above the mob. If he happens to be jostled he does not turn with a snarl. He turns with a bow and in a dignified lift of his hat.

He idles in front of the booksellers and at times stops in to select some new volume. Art is often represented by a beard or a flowing tie. This man appears to represent aristocracy by perfect gentility.

I was walking behind him the other day. People unconsciously turned to watch him. At Forty-second street and Fifth avenue a jaunty young thing in a cloche hat, whose sheer stockings showed above the knees and whose eye lashes were beaded with cunning, saw him.

She stopped, turned to her companion, and cried impertinently: "Isn't he the cat's pajamas!"

Modern New York greeting the past!

Speaking of modernity, a young man married the other day for the third time. The husband of his first wife was an usher. And he received warm telegrams of congratulations from his other two wives. Chummy!

The ferryboats plying back and forth between Gotham and Staten Island offer many diverting moments. The two man orchestra—violin and harp—plays its repertoire "In the Good Old Summer Time" and "Maggie." The deck walkers emulate their more prosperous fellows of the ocean liners. The energetic shoe shiners—polish 5 cents—rub off 2 cents—do their stuff. The morning crowds are rather glum and silent but are jauntily light-mooded going home from work. The ferry trip offers tired city folk a chance to cool off and refresh themselves with whiffs of the salty tang from the sea. Many Wall street millionaires are patrons of the ferries. They find it an excellent method for exercise. For they can swing round and round the deck without being annoyed by telephone calls or other impediments of a high speed existence.

When on the lower tip of Manhattan it is difficult to imagine that 30 years ago Trinity Church was the biggest building downtown. The big sky scrapers like the Woolworth, Singer and Metropolitan buildings have so completely dwarfed it that Trinity seems today more like a little country church far from the maddening throng.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The German Presidency.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20—The unexpected election of Field Marshal von Hindenburg to the presidency of the German republic and the character, record and past fealty of that doughty old warhorse have aroused almost endless speculation in Europe and in the United States. Is there about to be a restoration of the monarchy which Wilhelm scrapped? That, perhaps, is the question most frequently discussed.

Well informed Germans in this country say that the answer is to be found in the form of government which the German people have established and in the constitutional hobbles which they have put on their president.

Roughly speaking, there are three types of republics. The first is the presidential republic, such as the United States, in which the executive is essentially free of responsibility to the legislative branch, although congress can impeach and remove the president from office, and can veto legislation which he does not approve. The second is the collegiate republic, such as Switzerland and the Hanseatic City-States of Germany under the old regime, in which a college takes the place of a president. The third is the parliamentary republic as in France. The German republic has some features of all three.

The German president is elected by the people, just as is the president of the United States, while the French executive is chosen by the two houses of parliament, united as the national assembly. The American president appoints his own cabinet, subject to confirmation by the senate, and it is responsible only to him. In France and in Germany, on the other hand the president chooses a cabinet, but it must be acceptable to the parliamentary body for the cabinet "falls" whenever it asks for a vote of confidence and is rejected.

In both France and Germany the parliament not only exercises legislative power but it also controls executive action to a degree, although in Germany the president is not wholly a creature of the parliament. It is stated that he is intended to be a powerful part of the government, and, if need should arise, a check on the parliament to prevent its becoming omnipotent.

Controled by the People.

The fathers of the German constitution wanted a sort of parlimentarism the mechanism of which is controlled by the people and not by the parliament, in other words, they wanted an unadulterated parliament.

Defense Day

Objections to combining Armistice Day with National Defense Day are natural and logical. The two do not agree in spirit.

Armistice Day commemorates the glad day that ended the greatest and cruelest of wars. It celebrates peace. Defense Day inevitably suggests war.

Armistice Day looks back upon fighting with a sense of blessed relief that it is over. Defense implies more fighting. It inevitably contemplates new wars.

If we are to have a formal Defense Day, and are to link it with any other national festival instead of giving it a place of its own on the calendar, the best suggestion yet offered is that of President Coolidge, to combine it with the Fourth of July.

The Fourth of July is a fighting day. Along with rejoicing over the blessings and glories of freedom won, it breathes the militant will to perpetuate them.

If Armistice Day is to be united with any other kind of celebration, it should be combined with a national Peace Day.

Bright Lights

What is said to be the most powerful illumination in history will be turned upon Niagara Falls Monday night, May 25, from the Canadian side, in honor of Queen Victoria's birthday. There will be 13,000,000,000 candle-power, reckoned as equivalent to the lighting of 1,333,000 homes if all their lights were burning. The light will be thrown from a battery of two dozen three-foot searchlights of a new type, designed especially for this purpose.

It will be a gorgeous spectacle. And it will greatly impress the 100,000 or more people who are expected to see it. Perhaps, though, it is just as well that the display is not to be continued indefinitely. Those wonderful falls should be lighted up at night, but a few billion less candle-power ought to suffice, and would be easier on the beholders' eyes.

For every day, it is better to use that amount of light to illumine 1,333,000 homes, with their 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 people.

Our civilization is running to excessive illumination, anyway, for spectacular purposes. There are "white ways" and areas of blazing advertising signs that waste current needed in dark highways and homes. Eyes are half-blinded, too, by this overlighting. Soon we may have to wear colored goggles at night in public places.

There are light-maniacs as there are speed maniacs, using up valuable energy to do harm to harassed sense and nerves. Light is good, and the race needs more of it. But it needs the light diffused and softened.

Constitutional Hindenburg

President Von Hindenburg, regarded all his life as a typical militarist and in his present sympathies an avowed monarchist, swears to uphold the German constitution. He could not do otherwise, when installed as president of the German republic. Will he keep his oath?

Presumably he will. For Hindenburg, whatever his faults, is considered, even by his enemies, as an honest man. It does not seem likely that he would have accepted the office if he were not reconciled to using it constitutionally.

There will be strenuous efforts, no doubt, on the part of the extreme monarchists, to win Hindenburg over to a coup-d'etat for the restoration of the empire. But it does not seem likely that Hindenburg will sanction violence, nor that violence will be attempted by the monarchists during his term if he refuses to sanction it.

He may propose, sooner or later, some kind of referendum, submitting the issue to the people by constitutional procedure. There can be no objection to that. The German nation is free to change its constitution if it wants to, in preparation for a change to a constitutional monarchy.

Return to a monarchist system so nearly absolute as that of the Hohenzollerns would alarm the rest of the world. But it is hardly thinkable. Americans naturally want to see the German republic persist. But if the Germans eventually decide in favor of a constitutional monarchy like England's or Italy's, that is their own business.

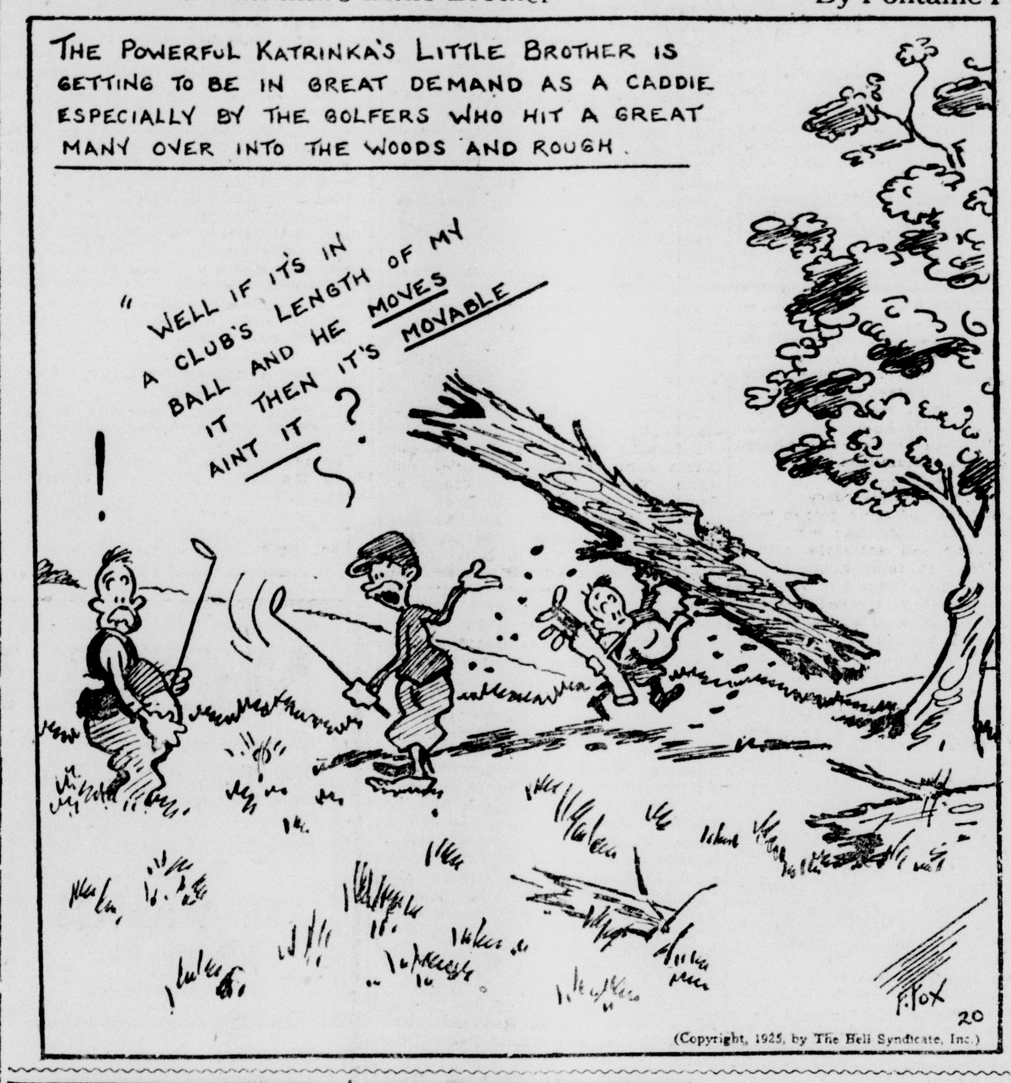
Tree Day For Trees

Because Arbor Day had degenerated into "a common school holiday" devoted to amusement rather than to tree-planting, the minister of education of the Canadian province of Alberta has decided that it is no longer to be a holiday. Children are to go to school as usual, but the day's work is to be devoted to instruction in the care of trees and forests, the beautification of yards with lawns, shade trees and shrubs, the prevention of forest fires and other allied subjects. If after receiving instruction in tree culture, the schools can then adjourn to the school yards and proceed to practice what they have learned by planting real trees, so much the better, says the minister of education.

Americans do not usually think of Canadian woods as being in need of such widespread conservation activities as our own. It is true, however, that they have been seriously ravaged by forest fires and that depletion of American forests increases the drain on those to the north.

All countries that have trees need to take an interest in conservation and reforestation before this fine natural resource is destroyed.

The Powerful Katrinka's Little Brother— By Fontaine Fox



NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 20.—Manhattan's touch and go at times becomes just a bit too strenuous. One grows weary of being buffeted about in the maelstrom of traffic. Our manners here may be no more careless than in other bustling centers, but they seem so.

At such times there is a certain Fifth Avenue promenader who offers a welcome relief. I like to think of him as the last aristocrat. He is I imagine in his late sixties. There is a military clip to his white mustache and his cheeks are ruddy with vigor.

His dress is the quiet, immaculate splendor of the gentleman born. I have often watched him leave the dignity of his exclusive club in the late afternoon. He carries that relic of the early nineties—the gold headed cane.

He stops at the florist for a carnation to wear, very brave in his coat lapel. He saunters. He does not push and jostle—a sort of lone maverick in the thundering herd. Now and then he loiters in front of the windows of the private art saloons.

He crosses the street in a leisurely fashion. You sense the charm and delicacy of a man who has learned to live pleasantly above the mob. If he happens to be jostled he does not turn with a snarl. He turns with a bow and in a dignified lift of his hat.

He idles in front of the booksellers and at times stops in to select some new volume. Art is often represented by a beard or a flowing tie. This man appears to represent aristocracy by perfect gentility.

I was walking behind him the other day. People unconsciously turned to watch him. At Forty-second street and Fifth avenue a jaunty young thing in a cloche hat, whose sheer stockings showed above the knees and whose eye lashes were beaded with cunning, saw him.

She stopped, turned to her companion, and cried impertinently: "Isn't he the cat's pajamas!"

Modern New York greeting the past!

Speaking of modernity, a young man married the other day for the third time. The husband of his first wife was an usher. And he received warm telegrams of congratulations from his other two wives. Chummy!

The ferryboats plying back and forth between Gotham and Staten Island offer many diverting moments. The two man orchestra—violin and harp—plays its repertoire "In the Good Old Summer Time" and "Maggie." The deck walkers emulate their more prosperous fellows of the ocean liners. The energetic shoe shiners—polish 5 cents—rub off 2 cents—do their stuff. The morning crowds are rather glum and silent but are jauntily light-mooded going home from work. The ferry trip offers tired city folk a chance to cool off and refresh themselves with whiffs of the salty tang from the sea. Many Wall street millionaires are patrons of the ferries. They find it an excellent method for exercise. For they can swing round and round the deck without being annoyed by telephone calls or other impediments of a high speed existence.

When on the lower tip of Manhattan it is difficult to imagine that 30 years ago Trinity Church was the biggest building downtown. The big sky scrapers like the Woolworth, Singer and Metropolitan buildings have so completely dwarfed it that Trinity seems today more like a little country church far from the maddening throng.

HASKIN'S LETTER

The German Presidency.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20—The unexpected election of Field Marshal von Hindenburg to the presidency of the German republic and the character, record and past fealty of that doughty old warhorse have aroused almost endless speculation in Europe and in the United States. Is there about to be a restoration of the monarchy which Wilhelm scrapped? That, perhaps, is the question most frequently discussed.

Thomsa Johnston, pastor of the Pine Creek Reformed Presbyterian church, at Pine Creek, Pa. Mrs. Schlag was born on the old Sangree farm, occupied first by Mrs. Schlag's grandfather, a pioneer settler, which is now the home of the fourth generation of the family.

Mr. Schlag was born in 1849, in Allegheny City, when it was a village, only Federal street being paved with cobble stones. There were no water works nor present day conveniences. Before his marriage, Mr. Schlag was a traveling salesman for a large manufacturing company, his territory covering 18 states and part of Canada. The first two years of married life were spent on a farm. In 1877, the young couple loaded all their belongings on a hay wagon and moved to Pittsburgh and one year later to Millvale, where they remained until 1896, when the lure of the land brought them to the farm four miles east of Columbiana. In 1910 Mr. Schlag abandoned active farm work and they moved to their present home in Columbiana. On May 20, 1875, Miss Sarah Jane Sangree, with Mr. Schlag, were married in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sangree, by Rev. Thomsa Johnston, pastor of the Pine Creek Reformed Presbyterian church, at Pine Creek, Pa. Mrs. Schlag was born on the old Sangree farm, occupied first by Mrs. Schlag's grandfather, a pioneer settler, which is now the home of the fourth generation of the family.

Before his marriage, Mr. Schlag was a traveling salesman for a large manufacturing company, his territory covering 18 states and part of Canada. The first two years of married life were spent on a farm. In 1877, the young couple loaded all their belongings on a hay wagon and moved to Pittsburgh and one year later to Millvale, where they remained until 1896, when the lure of the land brought them to the farm four miles east of Columbiana. In 1910 Mr. Schlag abandoned active farm work and they moved to their present home in Columbiana. Five children of the union are living: Hiram, of Montana; Mrs. Ella Sangree, of near Pittsburgh, and William, Herbert and Mrs. C. Ray Tod, of Columbiana.

FORD SUGGESTS TAX ON TOBACCO

George M. Ford, state school superintendent, today declared $2,000,000 annually would be necessary to carry out the provisions of law for state aid to schools. The legislature appropriated $1,250,000 for the purpose for each of the next two years, and Ford appealed to the special committee of the legislature for the remaining $750,000 a year which he estimated would be necessary.

In addition to his request for funds, the school head presented a draft of a bill taxing tobacco, cigars and cigarets, by which he recommended that the money be raised.

Ford proposed a privilege tax on dealers and an excise tax on the tobacco in its various forms, and the bill provided for collection by the state tax commissioner, with the auditor furnishing stamps under orders to pay the money into the general school fund.

The rates suggested by Ford were 10 per cent of the retail price on tobacco and cigars and $2 a thousand on cigarets. The privilege tax he proposed to set at $25 a year for wholesalers, and $20, $10 and $5 a year for retailers, according to the amount of business. In addition he proposed a $1 tax for "special retailers," good for 10 days, and a $1 a year tax on licensed consumers, intended to apply only to persons bringing in tobacco, cigars and cigarets from outside the state for their own use.

INJUNCTION HITS UNION LEADERS

Virtually prohibiting all unionization work on the part of the United Mine Workers, a drastic temporary restraining order was granted by Judge William E. Baker in United States district court in Wheeling to the West Virginia-Pittsburgh Coal company, effective at once. The ruling which granted the injunction followed an order refusing the motion of miners' union counsel to dismiss the petition for the new restraining order.

A motion to dissolve the injunction was immediately offered by Attorney T. C. Townsend, defense counsel. Judge Baker ruled that the injunction will remain in effect until Monday, June 1, when he will hold a special term of federal court to hear arguments on the motion of dissolution.

FORD SUGGESTS TAX ON TOBACCO

George M. Ford, state school superintendent, today declared $2,000,000 annually would be necessary to carry out the provisions of law for state aid to schools. The legislature appropriated $1,250,000 for the purpose for each of the next two years, and Ford appealed to the special committee of the legislature for the remaining $750,000 a year which he estimated would be necessary.

In addition to his request for funds, the school head presented a draft of a bill taxing tobacco, cigars and cigarets, by which he recommended that the money be raised.

Ford proposed a privilege tax on dealers and an excise tax on the tobacco in its various forms, and the bill provided for collection by the state tax commissioner, with the auditor furnishing stamps under orders to pay the money into the general school fund.

The rates suggested by Ford were 10 per cent of the retail price on tobacco and cigars and $2 a thousand on cigarets. The privilege tax he proposed to set at $25 a year for wholesalers, and $20, $10 and $5 a year for retailers, according to the amount of business. In addition he proposed a $1 tax for "special retailers," good for 10 days, and a $1 a year tax on licensed consumers, intended to apply only to persons bringing in tobacco, cigars and cigarets from outside the state for their own use.

INJUNCTION HITS UNION LEADERS

Virtually prohibiting all unionization work on the part of the United Mine Workers, a drastic temporary restraining order was granted by Judge William E. Baker in United States district court in Wheeling to the West Virginia-Pittsburgh Coal company, effective at once. The ruling which granted the injunction followed an order refusing the motion of miners' union counsel to dismiss the petition for the new restraining order.

A motion to dissolve the injunction was immediately offered by Attorney T. C. Townsend, defense counsel. Judge Baker ruled that the injunction will remain in effect until Monday, June 1, when he will hold a special term of federal court to hear arguments on the motion of dissolution.

GAS STATIONS TO BE LISTED

County Auditor's Office Busy; Additional Work Added.

Following the receipt of additional instructions from the office of the tax commission at Columbus, the office of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, during the next six months will be more active than ever in the history of the county.

The office has been ordered by the commission to appraise all the real property of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power Co., within the county and another order has just been received from the commission ordering the aduitor to file forthwith a complete record of every gasoline filing station in this county.

The office is now in the midst of the following activities:

Compiling a new real estate tax duplicate.

Correcting approximately 20,000 personal property returns.

Preparing to compile a new personal property tax duplicate.

Supervising the work of 35 assessors now in the field.

Taking part in hearings held by the board of revision for the purpose of correcting recent re-appraisal records, of which there are about 1,500.

Supervising the re-appraisement of real estate and buildings in East Palestine as requested by residents there.

Preparing records for the collection of cigarette taxes for the next fiscal year.

Compiling a record of owners of dogs who have not paid license fee for 1925 registration as required by law.

In addition to these particular chares there is also the daily routine of the office to be taken care of.

Under laws passed by the last legislature, additional work has been added to the office of the county auditor, and as official copies of these laws are now being received, old codes are being revised, and the work of the office being arranged to conform with the new statutes.

ORIGINAL LAND GRANTS RECORDED

Two original land grants, one 95 years old and another 99 years old have just been filed for record in this county by Thomas Carey of Franklin township.

The first of these grants was from the United States to Richard Carey, for lands in the east half of the northwest quarter section of section 30 in Franklin township. This grant was signed by President J. Q. Adams, Aug. 12, 1826.

The second grant was from the United States to Mr. Carey and was for lands in the west half of the northeast quarter section 30 in Franklin. This grant was signed Nov. 1, 1830 by President Andrew Jackson.

These lands have never been outside the Carey family, but never until now have the original grants been filed for record. Parchment upon which the text of these grants both engraved and written are in an excellent state of preservation, although both parchment sheets are a little brown with age.

ASSESSORS SOON TO FINISH WORK

Assessors who are now in the field have been ordered to complete their work within 10 days of eight hours each, and for which labor they will receive $4 per diem.

This is the last year that the assessors will go into the field as having been elected, a new law making it mandatory upon the county auditor to appoint assessors.

It is the opinion of Deputy County Auditor Elmer E. Walker that the assessors will complete their work within three weeks, although no particular date was given for the assessors to begin their survey.

MADE PROFIT OF $10,000 IN ONLY THREE WEEKS

By simply following the advise of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, O., considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advise of friends, after having taken, as he says, "barrels of medicine without result," he began a treatment of Ka-di-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Owen declared to the Ka-di-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself "$10,000 better off." This is a genuine statement coming from a most grateful friend of Ka-di-ok, and what Ka-di-ok did for Mr. Carr it has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousand more, if sufferers will but give it a chance by taking a treatment.

Mr. Owen Carr

Judgment Sought.

A petition and affidavit for constructive service has been filed by Attorney George Y. Travis in the case of the Union Savings and Loan company against George Bagby, now residing at No. 20 Granville street, Pittsburgh, Pa. The petition is for the purpose of recovering a judgment for $1,720.24 due on a promissory note given by the defendant to the plaintiff, and secured by a mortgage deed.

30-Acre Tract Leased.

George L. Smith has leased a 30-acre tract in Madison township to Ray Isner for oil and gas drilling purposes, while 72 acres of the Lester Kapp farm has also been leased to Isner for the same purpose. The Kapp farm is also located in Madison township.

A motion to dismiss the case of S. E. Anderson, of East Liverpool, against the Montgomery County Mutual Insurance company has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore. The defendants have filed for the recovery of a loss sustained by fire by the plaintiff and against which the plaintiff held a policy of the defendant.

GAS STATIONS TO BE LISTED

County Auditor's Office Busy; Additional Work Added.

Following the receipt of additional instructions from the office of the tax commission at Columbus, the office of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, during the next six months will be more active than ever in the history of the county.

The office has been ordered by the commission to appraise all the real property of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power Co., within the county and another order has just been received from the commission ordering the aduitor to file forthwith a complete record of every gasoline filing station in this county.

The office is now in the midst of the following activities:

Compiling a new real estate tax duplicate.

Correcting approximately 20,000 personal property returns.

Preparing to compile a new personal property tax duplicate.

Supervising the work of 35 assessors now in the field.

Taking part in hearings held by the board of revision for the purpose of correcting recent re-appraisal records, of which there are about 1,500.

Supervising the re-appraisement of real estate and buildings in East Palestine as requested by residents there.

Preparing records for the collection of cigarette taxes for the next fiscal year.

Compiling a record of owners of dogs who have not paid license fee for 1925 registration as required by law.

In addition to these particular charges there is also the daily routine of the office to be taken care of.

Under laws passed by the last legislature, additional work has been added to the office of the county auditor, and as official copies of these laws are now being received, old codes are being revised, and the work of the office being arranged to conform with the new statutaes.

ORIGINAL LAND GRANTS RECORDED

Two original land grants, one 95 years old and another 99 years old have just been filed for record in this county by Thomas Carey of Franklin township.

The first of these grants was from the United States to Richard Carey, for lands in the east half of the northwest quarter section of section 30 in Franklin township. This grant was signed by President J. Q. Adams, Aug. 12, 1826.

The second grant was from the United States to Mr. Carey and was for lands in the west half of the northeast quarter section 30 in Franklin. This grant was signed Nov. 1, 1830 by President Andrew Jackson.

These lands have never been outside the Carey family, but never until now have the original grants been filed for record. Parchment upon which the text of these grants both engraved and written are in an excellent state of preservation, although both parchment sheets are a little brown with age.

ASSESSORS SOON TO FINISH WORK

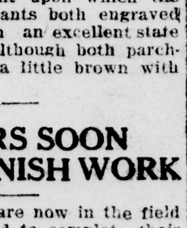
Assessors who are now in the field have been ordered to complete their work within 10 days of eight hours each, and for which labor they will receive $4 per diem.

This is the last year that the assessors will go into the field as having been elected, a new law making it mandatory upon the county auditor to appoint assessors.

It is the opinion of Deputy County Auditor Elmer E. Walker that the assessors will complete their work within three weeks, although no particular date was given for the assessors to begin their survey.

MADE PROFIT OF $10,000 IN ONLY THREE WEEKS

By simply following the advise of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, O., considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advise of friends, after having taken, as he says, "barrels of medicine without result," he began a treatment of Ka-di-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Owen declared to the Ka-di-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself "$10,000 better off." This is a genuine statement, coming from a most grateful friend of Ka-di-ok, and what Ka-di-ok did for Mr. Carr it has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousand more, if sufferers will but give it a chance by taking a treatment.



Mr. Owen Carr

Woman's Recompense

"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework," says Mrs. Harry Ashcroft of Covington, Ky. "I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. One day I read how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped others and decided to try it. I want to praise this wonderful medicine for the health and strength it has given me and ask other suffering women to try it." This is the one great dependable medicine for woman's ills.

Norma Talmadge returns to the screen of the American theatre Thursday night in her latest photo-drama, "The Only Woman."

This feature shows Norma reunited with her erstwhile leading man Eugene O'Brien, and the pair wend their way through a sequence of highly emotional love scenes which reach a climax in a thrillingly realistic yacht wreck.

The story, written by C. Gardner Sullivan, reverses the usual theme of sacrifices by parents for their children, and submits the problem of a girl who sacrifices herself on the altar of marriage to save her father from financial ruin and disgrace.

Though she hates the man, she marches up the church aisle amid a throng of society friends and becomes his bride, and they launch upon a honeymoon with hardly a cheery prospect in view.

It is on this honeymoon, designed as a yachting cruise on the Mediterranean, that a terrific storm arises. All members of the crew are swept overboard to destruction, and it is only through Eugene's aid that Norma is saved.

At the height of the storm a three-masted schooner bears down upon the yacht, smashing it amidships and rending the little vessel into splinters.

How Norma and Eugene finally are rescued and she comes to a realization that she loves her husband are details left for you to see on the screen.

arism. Therefore, they gave the president an entirely different status from that of the French president, but also different from that of the American president who is independent of congress in his sphere of action. The nearest parallel to the German presidency is to be found in a parliamentary monarchy, such as that in Great Britain.

As seen in the light of constitutional law, the German president stands between the presidents of America and France; he is weaker than the one and stronger than the other. The separation of legislative and executive power makes him independent in his own province, but this province is limited, for he can act only with the counter-signature of a cabinet member. Should the minister encounter the displeasure of the Reichstag he will "fall" over his signature and must be replaced by another man who will be more cautious. Thus in the ultimate, the president is always dependent on the Reichstag.

It will be seen that, in effect, the internal policy as well as the foreign policy of the German president is determined by the majority of the parliamentary body, the Reichstag. However, in President Hindenburg's case, the division of the parties is nearly even between the parties of the right and the left bloc, with no clear-cut majority on either side, but always with a republican majority so long as the communists join the other left parties. No monarchistic or nationalistic president would have the ghost of a chance to alter the present status, except by a coup d'etata, and to accomplish that he would have to have a majority of the people behind him, which Hindenburg does not have since he is a minority president.

He was elected by only a plurality of the popular vote, and while his strength with a large element of the people is conceded, it is asserted that he would not retain any substantial fraction of that strength should he undertake to overthrow the republic.

Not That Kind of a Man.

However, Hindenburg has pledged himself to uphold the constitution and the republic and even his adversaries say he is not the kind of a man to repudiate his oath. It is pointed out that Hindenburg has never posed as a politician and was never a political general. He did his duty to his country, as he saw it, to the best of his ability, endeared himself to his soldiers through an extraordinary consideration for life and limb, and after he had led the troops back, went into private retreat without taking the slightest part in politics.

It was scarcely to be expected that he would embrace with fervor the new conditions and new governmental order. He had been too staunch a supporter of the kaiser for that. But at the same time he is said to have an open-mindedness and an innate loyalty toward constituted authority which prevented his becoming sullen or hostile.

He accepted the new platform, and when the Kapp-putch of 1921 was frustrated he did not hesitate to send to President Ebert a letter in which he hailed Ebert as the savior of the fatherland. The sudden death of Ebert gave him another opportunity to acknowledge publicly the merits of that leader, but he refused to take a hand in politics until the election of March 29 indicated a woeful disunity among the parties and the people.

Great pressure was brought to bear upon him to persuade him to stand for the presidency, the chief argument being that he commanded the respect of practically all the German people, even those who were antagonistic to everything he was supposed to represent, and that his magnetic personality might bring victory that ultimately would restore order out of chaos.

Hindenburg is said to have yielded reluctantly and only after he had been convinced that it was his duty to his country. When he did consent to make the race he knew exactly what he was doing. He knew that he would have to swear allegiance to the constitution of the republic. His friends say that with him an oath is inviolable, and that no one who knows him can entertain for a moment the slightest doubt about that.

It is not doubted that there were influences behind him that were and are hostile to the new order of things in Germany. There is a considerable element that would like to see a restoration of the old regime, and the leaders of this group may cherish hopes that Hindeburg's election was a long step toward that end. If such is the case, it is insisted in Washington, their hones are delusions and any effort they may make to realize them will prove abortive.

It is said that the whole make-up of the man offers every guarantee that Hindenburg will never attempt a foolish nor a dishonest thing, even if there were certain groups that would urge him on. His task is not the restoration of the monarchy, but the unification of a sadly split nation, the estaablishment of peace and order, and the fulfillment of a pledge. He will not rock the boat, and will steer clear of all obstacles that may be placed in his way from the inside or the outside.

CHARM OF WOMEN DEPENDS UPON VITAL GLANDS

Science has found that a deficiency in certain glands in women results in mental sluggishness, irritability, despondency, forgetfulness and fatigue, tendency to sleep a great deal and morning weariness. Even the brilliancy and luster of the hair and the delicate beauty and softness of the skin are impaired if the glands do not function properly.

According to leading authorities the benefits of gland transplantation may be had without an operation; gland substance can be taken internally in tablet form.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store will supply you.

Chinese Astronomer Shatters Tradition On Earth Movement

TOKYO, May.—Chang Chungshan, a Chinese astronomer, and two colleagues, according to dispatches from Shanghai, have invented an instrument which proves that all existing ideas of the solar system are wrong.

This instrument, its inventors claim, is capable of demonstrating that the earth does not move, but that it stands still, suspended in the air like a huge soap-bubble. Around the earth, the Celestial astronomers maintain, the sun and all other heavenly bodies revolve. The savants have written a book in support of their theory, but it has not yet been translated into any foreign language.

It is reported that the Chinese government has given the inventors $7,000 for their device. No information is forthcoming as to where the Chinese government got the $7,000.

GET RID OF CATARRH QUICK

World's Tonic, the Systematic Treatment Quickly Heals the Sores, Sweetens the Horrible Breath and Cleanses the System of Catarrhal Impurities.

Recently a Columbus woman was visiting friends in Dayton where she read a great deal in the newspapers about the wonderful systematic treatment for Catarrh, World's Tonic, so she went to see the World's Tonic man who was at a prominent drug store there and learned from him about some of the wonderful recoveries that had been reported to him by users of this now famous treatment.

Her own recovery was so remarkable that we believe our readers, and especially those suffering from Catarrh, will be greatly interested in her story.

"I suffered from catarrh of the stomach and bladder for years," she said, telling it to the World's Tonic man, after she had taken a course of treatment.

"My catarrh was so bad that I thought I had cancer of the stomach. I spit up great clots of mucus, vomited often, couldn't digest properly even the lightest of foods, lost flesh constantly, suffered intensely from an inflammed bladder and was practically a confirmed invalid. After hearing of World's Tonic, I bought two bottles. The results were amazing. My husband went back to the drug store and bought 6 more. I have taken five altogether now. The vomiting has ceased, my bladder does not trouble me, I can eat and digest my food without difficulty and am gaining in weight again."

Anyone suffering from catarrh in any form should use World's Tonic at once. The price is reasonable.

Sold by Carnahan's, also Brannan's, Wellsville, and all other good druggists.

rism. Therefore, they gave the president an entirely different status from that of the French president, but also different from that of the American president who is independent of congress in his sphere of action. The nearest parallel to the German presidency is to be found in a parliamentary monarchy, such as that in Great Britain.

As seen in the light of constitutional law, the German president stands between the presidents of America and France; he is weaker than the one and stronger than the other. The separation of legislative and executive power makes him independent in his own province, but this province is limited, for he can act only with the counter-signature of a cabinet member. Should the minister encounter the displeasure of the Reichstag he will "fall" over his signature and must be replaced by another man who will be more cautious. Thus in the ultimate, the president is always dependent on the Reichstag.

It will be seen that, in effect, the internal policy as well as the foreign policy of the German president is determined by the majority of the parliamentary body, the Reichstag. However, in President Hindenburg's case, the division of the parties is nearly even between the parties of the right and the left bloc, with no clear-cut majority on either side, but always with a republican majority so long as the communists join the other left parties. No monarchistic or nationalistic president would have the ghost of a chance to alter the present status, except by a coup d'etata, and to accomplish that he would have to have a majority of the people behind him, which Hindenburg does not have since he is a minority president.

He was elected by only a plurality of the popular vote, and while his strength with a large element of the people is conceded, it is asserted that he would not retain any substantial fraction of that strength should he undertake to overthrow the republic.

Not That Kind of a Man.

However, Hindenburg has pledged himself to uphold the constitution and the republic and even his adversaries say he is not the kind of a man to repudiate his oath. It is pointed out that Hindenburg has never posed as a politician and was never a political general. He did his duty to his country, as he saw it, to the best of his ability, endeared himself to his soldiers through an extraordinary consideration for life and limb, and after he had led the troops back, went into private retreat without taking the slightest part in politics.

It was scarcely to be expected that he would embrace with fervor the new conditions and new governmental order. He had been too staunch a supporter of the kaiser for that. But at the same time he is said to have an open-mindedness and an innate loyalty toward constituted authority which prevented his becoming sullen or hostile.

He accepted the new platform, and when the Kapp-putch of 1921 was frustrated he did not hesitate to send to President Ebert a letter in which he hailed Ebert as the savior of the fatherland. The sudden death of Ebert gave him another opportunity to acknowledge publicly the merits of that leader, but he refused to take a hand in politics until the election of March 29 indicated a woeful disunity among the parties and the people.

Great pressure was brought to bear upon him to persuade him to stand for the presidency, the chief argument being that he commanded the respect of practically all the German people, even those who were antagonistic to everything he was supposed to represent, and that his magnetic personality might bring victory that ultimately would restore order out of chaos.

Hindenburg is said to have yielded reluctantly and only after he had been convinced that it was his duty to his country. When he did consent to make the race he knew exactly what he was doing. He knew that he would have to swear allegiance to the constitution of the republic. His friends say that with him an oath is inviolable, and that no one who knows him can entertain for a moment the slightest doubt about that.

It is not doubted that there were influences behind him that were and are hostile to the new order of things in Germany. There is a considerable element that would like to see a restoration of the old regime, and the leaders of this group may cherish hopes that Hindeburg's election was a long step toward that end. If such is the case, it is insisted in Washington, their hones are delusions and any effort they may make to realize them will prove abortive.

It is said that the whole make-up of the man offers every guarantee that Hindenburg will never attempt a foolish nor a dishonest thing, even if there were certain grouns that would urge him on. His task is not the restoration of the monarchy, but the unification of a sadly split nation, the estaablishment of peace and order, and the fulfillment of a pledge. He will not rock the boat, and will steer clear of all obstacles that may be placed in his way from the inside or the outside.

A bedroom table that at the touch of a button prepares tea and an alarm that catches burglars are features of the ideal home exhibition in London.

Chinese Astronomer Shatters Tradition On Earth Movement

TOKYO, May.—Chang Chungshan, a Chinese astronomer, and two colleagues, according to dispatches from Shanghai, have invented an instrument which proves that all existing ideas of the solar system are wrong.

This instrument, its inventors claim, is capable of demonstrating that the earth does not move, but that it stands still, suspended in the air like a huge soap-bubble. Around the earth, the Celestial astronomers maintain, the sun and all other heavenly bodies revolve. The savants have written a book in support of their theory, but it has not yet been translated into any foreign language.

It is reported that the Chinese government has given the inventors $7,000 for their device. No information is forthcoming as to where the Chinese government got the $7,000.

CHARM OF WOMEN DEPENDS UPON VITAL GLANDS

Science has found that a deficiency in certain glands in women results in mental sluggishness, irritability, despondency, forgetfulness and fatigue, tendency to sleep a great deal and morning weariness. Even the brilliancy and luster of the hair and the delicate beauty and softness of the skin are impaired if the glands do not function properly.

According to leading authorities the benefits of gland transplantation may be had without an operation; gland substance can be taken internally in tablet form.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store will supply you.

GET RID OF CATARRH QUICK
World's Tonic, the Systematic Treatment Quickly Heals the Sores, Sweetens the Horrible Breath and Cleanses the System of Catarrhal Impurities.

Recently a Columbus woman was visiting friends in Dayton where she read a great deal in the newspapers about the wonderful systematic treatment for Catarrh, World's Tonic, so she went to see the World's Tonic man who was at a prominent drug store there and learned from him about some of the wonderful recoveries that had been reported to him by users of this now famous treatment.
Her own recovery was so remarkable that we believe our readers, and especially those suffering from Catarrh, will be greatly interested in her story.
"I suffered from catarrh of the stomach and bladder for years," she said, telling it to the World's Tonic man, after she had taken a course of treatment.
"My catarrh was so bad that I thought I had cancer of the stomach. I spit up great clots of mucus, vomited often, couldn't digest properly even the lightest of foods, lost flesh constantly, suffered intensely from an inflammed bladder and was practically a confirmed invalid. After hearing of World's Tonic, I bought two bottles. The results were amazing. My husband went back to the drug store and bought 6 more. I have taken five altogether now. The vomiting has ceased, my bladder does not trouble me, I can eat and digest my food without difficulty and am gaining in weight again."
Anyone suffering from catarrh in any form should use World's Tonic at once. The price is reasonable.
Sold by Carnahan's, also Brannan's, Wellsville, and all other good druggists.

Fast Fielding and Steady Mound Work Feature Two Tilts

Fowler's Squad Engineers 5 to 2 Victory Over Bricelin's Laughlin Nine at Patterson Field; Double Plays and Base Running Provide Thrills; Four-run Rally in Fifth Frame Enables Riley's Lads to Turn Back Katies, 9 to 4.

FOUR fast double plays, two by each contender, indicated the smart fielding of the Trotter and Laughlin teams in the initial City Industrial league contest at Patterson field on Tuesday evening which the former won, 5 to 2.

Equally arresting was a double steal admirably carried out by Digman and H. Strobel in the fifth inning which gave the West Virginians the second of their two runs.

Barr and Digman waged a pitchers' battle, the former allowing six and the latter seven bingles. Only once, however, did two come in the same inning for the gas office official. This occurred thrice for Digman and scoring resulted on two of the occasions.

Hunselman and Smith, the rival catchers, excelled in their performance.

Myers swatted perfectly for the day while Kinsey led the automobile aggregation with two in three appearances. He also landed three flies in right.

V. Bailey dropped Heckathorne's long fly to left in the second inning and held up at the keystone corner from where he scored on Herbert's single. The latter reached second on the play at the plate and counted on Hunselman's single to middle.

Watson, doubling to left in the fourth, scored Myers, who had singled sharply through third.

E. Bayley singled in the fourth. Hunselman walked. Barr scarificed, Digman to Babb. J. Strobel drove to Watson and E. Watson registered as the put out was made at first, Hunselman going to third from where he scored on a wild pitch.

With two down in the fifth Digman singled and reached third when A. Bayley dropped H. Strobel's fly. He counted on a double steal, beautifully executed.

Coming up from behind, Chester overcome the lead of K. T. K. at Columbian park, Tuesday evening and handily won, 9 to 4.

The K. T. K. infield faltered in the fifth and four runs were made Chester going into the front from which it was not dislodged.

Cebula got away to a bad start and three wins were made off him in the first inning. Then he settled down and blanked his opponents in all but the third inning when another tally was permitted by him.

Stoffel allowed eight hits but his ragged support at critical junctures was too much of a handicap for him.

The fielding features of the game were made by Shaw and P. Bennett. The score:

Here's a Good One on Umpire Billy Evans—

A few days ago while the umpire was officiating in Cleveland, he was hurrying to the field with Umpire Hildebrand. They drove past a traffic 'stop' signal. After discovering whom the offenders were, the cop waved them by with the remark: "No wonder the fans say you cant see".

READY TO PICK NEW CHAMPION

Goodrich Probably Will Occupy Leonard's Throne.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, May 20.—With the utmost gravity and aplomb, the New York State Athletic commission is about to hail a new lightweight champion of the world from among the four remaining survivors of an elimination tourney. He will be named to replace Benny Leonard, the well known and dutiful son, and it will be like driving home a needle in place of a nail.

There are four men left in the running and none of them assay more than 50 per cent. They are, named in the order of their ability, Jimmy Goodrich, of Buffalo; Benny Valgar, of New York, and the foreign entries, Loayza, of Chile, and Olano, of Cuba.

Within a month, one of them will be duly escorted to the throne upon which Gans, Nelson, McAuliffe, Lavigne and other immortals sat, and invited to make himself at home. No peasant in the palace could occupy a more incongruous role.

Somehow, the lightweight division never has had an unrepresentative champion, but it cannot very well escape the stigma now. He will not deserve to be coupled in the same pany with Gans, Nelson and the others.

Goodrich is perhaps the best of the lot and at one time he looked the part of a fighter. But during recent months, he has been in a steady slump, and only through the grace of circumstances has he reached the semi-final round of the tournament. The spectators almost rioted when his first round match with Eddie Kid Wagner, of Philadelphia, was called a draw at the end of 10 rounds. But they fairly frothed at the mouth when Goodrich was named as the winner after two extra rounds. Both decisions were alleged to have been all to the falsetto.

Many, likewise, did not agree with the verdict that gave Goodrich the decision over Clyde Jackle, and two nights ago, the Buffalo entry was awarded the fight when hit low by Sammy Mandell. The latter was a heavy winner on points when the foul occurred.

So much for Goodrich. He is the man who is generally favored to survive the ultimate issue and Valgar, a light hitting, holding, safety first young man, is next in line.

The foreigners, Loayza and Olano, can be dismissed without a preamble. They are in the tourney only to give it tone and refinement or something.

Mandell, of course, was the best man in the lists. He is wondrously fast and his gameness is above suspicion. He is an interesting boxer to watch and altogether is the only lightview on view at the present who could be acceptable as a champion. The winner of the tourney will receive scant consideration until he takes on Mandel in a post-series match.

SCHOLASTICS TIE WITH FOES

Stage 5-5 Clash With Wellsville Nine.

The East Liverpool Scholastics and the Wellsville Central A. C. played to a 5-5 tie yesterday afternoon at Patterson field, the game being called at the end of the fifth inning in order to allow two City Industrial league teams to take the field for the scheduled contest.

The Scholastics outhit the Wellsville lads, collecting seven bingles off the curves of Pitcher Rose. Captain McConville laced out a double and a triple.

Schneidmiller started the game in the box for the locals, but was driven to the tall timbers in the third. English went to the hilltop and stemmed the attack.

Pusey's home run in the fourth was the batting feature of the day.

Collett Is Defeated After Erratic Game

Bows in Third Round of British Tourney to Superior Playing of Joyce Wethered.

By Harry Flory.

TROON, Scotland, May 20.—Larks sang their merry lay in the tree tops along the fairways today but their song found no response in the gallant little heart of Miss Glenna Collett, former American women's golf champion. Fighting gamely to the last, Miss Collett went down to defeat at the capable hands of Miss Joyce Wethered, perennial British champion, in the third round of the women's open championship.

The score was 4 up and 3 to play, the American conceding defeat on the fifteenth green after a 10-foot putt had rolled off the line.

A crowd of 3,000 followed the match and exhibited the best of good sportsmanship toward the quiet, little visitor. The weather was misty but quite without wind, a distinct favor to Miss Collett's long driving. In fact, everything was in her favor except her own game, which was not typical of her best at any time.

The American's errors at the fifth, sixth and ninth holes sent Miss Wethered to the turn, 1 up. Miss Collett won the third and eighth through superior play. The American was two over par for the first nine.

Successive birdies gave Miss Wethered the tenth and eleventh where the American again erred. She lost the fourteenth, and incidentally all chance of winning the match, by taking three putts.

The match ended on the fifteenth hole. Miss Collett missed a ten-foot putt, halving the hole and giving the match to Miss Wethered.

Stops your car Quicker!

"I stopped my car in 28 feet going 20 miles an hour!"

"I HAVE made a test," says Joe M. Woods, of 1514 Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill., "and I find that I can stop my Oldsmobile, equipped with two-wheel brakes, lined with Rusco Brake Lining, in 28 feet, going 20 miles per hour."

That's how safe Rusco-lined, properly adjusted two-wheel brakes will make your car. A lining will pass police inspection if it will stop in 35 feet going 20 miles per hour. Rusco stops 7 feet quicker! With death or a costly crash just ahead, 7 feet leeway is a godsend.

Wet weather makes no difference

RUSCO is an all-weather lining. It will grip and hold just as well in wet weather as in dry. Water makes no difference to Rusco's stopping ability. It is treated with a special compound that makes it resist water, oil, dirt and wear. It will not burn.

Your repair man pays more for Rusco than for other brands of lining but he doesn't charge you more.

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand. When your brakes need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job. Have your brakes inspected and relined at any of the garages listed below. They are brake lining experts, using special electrical equipment for counter-sinking rivets in lining and riveting lining to brake band.

Fast Fielding and Steady Mound Work Feature Two Tilts

Fowler's Squad Engineers 5 to 2 Victory Over Bricelin's Laughlin Nine at Patterson Field; Double Plays and Base Running Provide Thrills; Four-run Rally in Fifth Frame Enables Riley's Lads to Turn Back Katies, 9 to 4.

FOUR fast double plays, two by each contender, indicated the smart fielding of the Trotter and Laughlin teams in the initial City Industrial league contest at Patterson field on Tuesday evening which the former won, 5 to 2.

Equally arresting was a double steal admirably carried out by Digman and H. Strobel in the fifth inning which gave the West Virginians the second of their two runs.

Barr and Digman waged a pitchers' battle, the former allowing six and the latter seven bingles. Only once, however, did two come in the same inning for the gas office official. This occurred thrice for Digman and scoring resulted on two of the occasions.

Hunselman and Smith, the rival catchers, excelled in their performance.

Myers swatted perfectly for the day while Kinsey led the automobile aggregation with two in three appearances. He also landed three flies in right.

V. Bailey dropped Heckathorne's long fly to left in the second inning and held up at the keystone corner from where he scored on Herbert's single. The latter reached second on the play at the plate and counted on Hunselman's single to middle.

Watson, doubling to left in the fourth, scored Myers, who had singled sharply through third.

E. Bayley singled in the fourth. Hunselman walked. Barr scarificed, Digman to Babb. J. Strobel drove to Watson and E. Watson registered as the put out was made at first, Hunselman going to third from where he scored on a wild pitch.

With two down in the fifth Digman singled and reached third when A. Bayley dropped H. Strobel's fly. He counted on a double steal, beautifully executed.

Coming up from behind, Chester overcome the lead of K. T. K. at Columbian park, Tuesday evening and handily won, 9 to 4.

The K. T. K. infield faltered in the fifth and four runs were made Chester going into the front from which it was not dislodged.

Cebula got away to a bad start and three wins were made off him in the first inning. Then he settled down and blanked his opponents in all but the third inning when another tally was permitted by him.

Stoffel allowed eight hits but his ragged support at critical junctures was too much of a handicap for him.

The fielding features of the game were made by Shaw and P. Bennett. The score:

Here's a Good One on Umpire Billy Evans—

A few days ago while the umpire was officiating in Cleveland, he was hurrying to the field with Umpire Hildebrand. They drove past a traffic 'stop' signal. After discovering whom the offenders were, the cop waved them by with the remark: "No wonder the fans say you cant see".

READY TO PICK NEW CHAMPION

Goodrich Probably Will Occupy Leonard's Throne.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, May 20.—With the utmost gravity and aplomb, the New York State Athletic commission is about to hail a new lightweight champion of the world from among the four remaining survivors of an elimination tourney. He will be named to replace Benny Leonard, the well known and dutiful son, and it will be like driving home a needle in place of a nail.

There are four men left in the running and none of them assay more than 50 per cent. They are, named in the order of their ability, Jimmy Goodrich, of Buffalo; Benny Valgar, of New York, and the foreign entries, Loayza, of Chile, and Olano, of Cuba.

Within a month, one of them will be duly escorted to the throne upon which Gans, Nelson, McAuliffe, Lavigne and other immortals sat, and invited to make himself at home. No peasant in the palace could occupy a more incongruous role.

Somehow, the lightweight division never has had an unrepresentative champion, but it cannot very well escape the stigma now. He will not deserve to be coupled in the same pany with Gans, Nelson and the others.

Goodrich is perhaps the best of the lot and at one time he looked the part of a fighter. But during recent months, he has been in a steady slump, and only through the grace of circumstances has he reached the semi-final round of the tournament. The spectators almost rioted when his first round match with Eddie Kid Wagner, of Philadelphia, was called a draw at the end of 10 rounds. But they fairly frothed at the mouth when Goodrich was named as the winner after two extra rounds. Both decisions were alleged to have been all to the falsetto.

Many, likewise, did not agree with the verdict that gave Goodrich the decision over Clyde Jackle, and two nights ago, the Buffalo entry was awarded the fight when hit low by Sammy Mandell. The latter was a heavy winner on points when the foul occurred.

So much for Goodrich. He is the man who is generally favored to survive the ultimate issue and Valgar, a light hitting, holding, safety first young man, is next in line.

The foreigners, Loayza and Olano, can be dismissed without a preamble. They are in the tourney only to give it tone and refinement or something.

Mandell, of course, was the best man in the lists. He is wondrously fast and his gameness is above suspicion. He is an interesting boxer to watch and altogether is the only lightview on view at the present who could be acceptable as a champion. The winner of the tourney will receive scant consideration until he takes on Mandel in a post-series match.

SCHOLASTICS TIE WITH FOES

Stage 5-5 Clash With Wellsville Nine.

The East Liverpool Scholastics and the Wellsville Central A. C. played to a 5 -5 tie yesterday afternoon at Patterson field, the game being called at the end of the fifth inning in order to allow two City Industrial league teams to take the field for the scheduled contest.

The Scholastics outhit the Wellsville lads, collecting seven bingles off the curves of Pitcher Rose. Captain McConville laced out a double and a triple.

Schneidmiller started the game in the box for the locals, but was driven to the tall timbers in the third. English went to the hilltop and stemmed the attack.

Pusey's home run in the fourth was the batting feature of the day.

Collett Is Defeated After Erratic Game

Bows in Third Round of British Tourney to Superior Playing of Joyce Wethered.

By Harry Flory.

TROON, Scotland, May 20.—Larks sang their merry lay in the tree tops along the fairways today but their song found no response in the gallant little heart of Miss Glenna Collett, former American women's golf champion. Fighting gamely to the last, Miss Collett went down to defeat at the capable hands of Miss Joyce Wethered, perennial British champion, in the third round of the women's open championship.

The score was 4 up and 3 to play, the American conceding defeat on the fifteenth green after a 10-foot putt had rolled off the line.

A crowd of 3,000 followed the match and exhibited the best of good sportsmanship toward the quiet, little visitor. The weather was misty but quite without wind, a distinct favor to Miss Collett's long driving. In fact, everything was in her favor except her own game, which was not typical of her best at any time.

The American's errors at the fifth, sixth and ninth holes sent Miss Wethered to the turn, 1 up. Miss Collett won the third and eighth through superior play. The American was two over par for the first nine.

Successive birdies gave Miss Wethered the tenth and eleventh where the American again erred. She lost the fourteenth, and incidentally all chance of winning the match, by taking three putts.

The match ended on the fifteenth hole. Miss Collett missed a ten-foot putt, halving the hole and giving the match to Miss Wethered.

The cards:

Out—Collett	443	546	435
Wethered	444	535	444
In—Collett	654	445
Wethered	434	435

Stops your car Quicker!

"I stopped my car in 28 feet going 20 miles an hour!"

"I HAVE made a test," says Joe M. Woods, of 1514 Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill., "and I find that I can stop my Oldsmobile, equipped with two-wheel brakes, lined with Rusco Brake Lining, in 28 feet, going 20 miles per hour."

That's how safe Rusco-lined, properly adjusted two-wheel brakes will make your car. A lining will pass police inspection if it will stop in 35 feet going 20 miles per hour. Rusco stops 7 feet quicker! With death or a costly crash just ahead, 7 feet leeway is a godsend.

Wet weather makes no difference

RUSCO is an all-weather lining. It will grip and hold just as well in wet weather as in dry. Water makes no difference to Rusco's stopping ability. It is treated with a special compound that makes it resist water, oil, dirt and wear. It will not burn.

Your repair man pays more for Rusco than for other brands of lining but he doesn't charge you more.

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand. When your brakes need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job. Have your brakes inspected and relined at any of the garages listed below. They are brake lining experts, using special electrical equipment for counter-sinking rivets in lining and riveting lining to brake band.

Tagging The Bases

The Tigers made human hamburger out of Jones and Johnson in the sixth and seventh innings and won easily from the Yankees, 11 to 5. Wells and Cole left-handing the Hugman silly.

Kaufman's pitching and the hitting of Griffith and Friberg stopped the Giants winning streak of eight straight, the Cubs stepping in to an 8 to 2 verdict.

Harper's homer off Watson with the bases filled gave the Phillies an 8 to 4 decision over the Cardinals.

Walter Johnson, pinch hitting for Ogden, socked a homer off Shaute with one on in the ninth and the Senators beat the Indians, 4 to 3.

Except for Miller's homer with two on in the ninth, Lyons had the Athletics absolutely in the hip pocket and the White Sox won, 4 to 3.

The Borwns hit Quinn with enthusiasm and won from the Red Sox, 8 to 2. Bush finally staking himself to a victory.

Tagging The Bases

The Tigers made human hamburger out of Jones and Johnson in the sixth and seventh innings and won easily from the Yankees, 11 to 5, Wells and Cole left-handing the Hugman silly.

Kaufman's pitching and the hitting of Griffith and Friberg stopped the Giants winning streak of eight straight, the Cubs stepping in to an 8 to 2 verdict.

Harper's homer off Watson with the bases filled gave the Phillies an 8 to 4 decision over the Cardinals.

Walter Johnson, pinch hitting for Ogden, socked a homer off Shaute with one on in the ninth and the Senators beat the Indians, 4 to 3.

Except for Miller's homer with two on in the ninth, Lyons had the Athletics absolutely in the hip pocket and the White Sox won, 4 to 3.

The Borwns hit Quinn with enthusiasm and won from the Red Sox, 8 to 2. Bush finally staking himself to a victory.

The mining industry spends $150,000,000 a year in South Africa and provides directly or indirectly 40 per cent of the Union and provincial revenues.

Mr. Ford in Wall Street.
In Great St. Peters.
The Lord Have Mercy.
Only Human Babies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

There's a new bank in Wall street, and Edsel Ford, they say, will run it. That agitates the Wall street gentlemen, as the hens are agitated when a weasel wiggles into the coop.

Henry Ford's son is only a director in the parents company, the Guardian Trust Co. of Detroit. But, when one of the Fords get into an enterprise, that enterprise soon becomes all Ford.

Recently Wall street sent to Detroit with the idea of taking over the Fords. Now, the Fords go into Wall street, and the more ready cash behind them than anybody else in the United States possesses, they worry that home of the mighty dollar.

Forty thousand worshipers and members of the clergy from all over the world, including Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia, gathered in St. Peter's in Rome and witnessed a most magnificent spectacle.

The pope, carried on his golden throne to the great altar of twisted columns, formerly admitted St. Theresa of Normandy, known as "Theresa of the Infant Jesus," to the fellowship of Catholic saints.

Those who do not know St. Peter's most magnificent monument to Michael Angelo's supreme genius, obtain a slight idea of its size in reading of the 40,000 that easily find room inside its walls and of the solemn procession of cardinals, archbishops, bishops and priests of all orders, up the aisle. The procession lasted for more than three hours.

A contrast between the old and the new was the thousands of candles of wax—not electric lights—with which the dome of St. Peter's was decorated, its first illumination in more than half a century, and the pope from the throne of pure white addressing the throng, with a modern amplifier carrying his voice to every corner of the great cathedral.

Various royalties sat on special seats reserved for sovereigns. And Timothy Healy, governor-general of Ireland, sat on the tribune reserved for the heads of states.

That was an interesting sight of those who remember the days of 40 years ago, when Healy, in the house of commons, was fighting for home rule.

Interesting reminders of ancient days were the presents made to the pope by the Carmelite order, to which St. Theresa belonged, a silver cask of wine, a cage of two white doves, mother with five small birds, candles and loaves of bread on gold and silver platters.

Interesting also was the appearance of the bronze statue of St. Peter dressed for the occasion in a magnificent red robe, holding in his hand the famous jewels, tira and gold emblem of the sacred heart.

Mighty is the power of faith and imagination combined.

Yesterday in Pennsylvania, William Cavalier, 15 years old, and a murderer, was sentenced to die in the electric chair. The sentence wound up with "and may the Lord have mercy on your soul." The reporters thought the boy winced a little at that, and at the words about "death—electric current—passed through body—until dead." The boy smiled as he left the court, and a few minutes later, in his cell, he was playing a popular song, "Katerina," on his phonograph.

Fred Lenning, warden in charge of the young criminal, said: "Listen to that music. He doesn't know what

Cement Contractor Injured When His Auto Overturns

F. M. Crawford, cement contractor, sustained a slightly injured back, when his automobile—a Ford coupe—overturned on a 15-foot embankment near the corner of McKinnon avenue and the Dixonville road, at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Crawford was enroute up the Dixonville road, traveling, he says, on the right side of the road, when he collided head-on with another machine. The dense fog was blamed.

The Crawford car overturned on the hillside, pinning him beneath it. The machine, badly damaged, was taken to a garage by the McElravy Brothers' wrecker.

Robinson Circus Advertising Car Makes Stop Here

Advertising car No. 1 of the John Robinson Circus was in East Liverpool yesterday, completing the billing for the show which will exhibit here on Friday, June 5.

Because of the filling operations in progress at Patterson field, the show will exhibit on the Columbiana park grounds in the East End, it was announced. Representatives of the circus, who measured the Patterson field lot, declared that the field would not accommodate the "big top" alone.

It is not likely that the show will parade because of the long haul from the show grounds to the downtown business section.

THREE ARE SHOT DOWN AS GIRL, 15, DEALS OUT 'JUSTICE' WITH PISTOL

Alleged "Other Woman" and Gun Wielder's Father and Mother are Victims When Infuriated Daughter Opens Fire With Revolver as She Maintains Midnight Watch on Couple.

"YOU'VE BROKEN UP OUR HOME" SHE CRIES AS GUN'S BARK IS HEARD

Wife, Yelling and Running Toward Daughter, Throws Self Forward and Stops Bullet Intended for Chicago Man Who Had Played False to His Marriage Vows.

CHICAGO, May 20—Two women were wounded, one perhaps fatally, and a man was less seriously hurt here today as a result of a 15-year-old high school girl's dealing out of "justice" from the barrel of a .38 calibre revolver.

Her victims were: Miss Anna Simneck, 28, the alleged "other woman," who, the girl charges had infatuated her father, William Wunsch, her father, and Birdie, his wife, who threw herself in front of her infuriated daughter and received a bullet intended for her husband.

The girl, Lucille Wunsch, is being held by police.

The shooting took place in the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Trapp, Riverdale, with whom Miss Simneck made her home.

It was there that the daughter and mother had gone to spy on the father and husband whose alleged indiscretions with Miss Simneck, said to have extended over a period of two years, had been discovered by Lucille and reported to her mother.

Tattling Tongues Of "Main Street" Prompt Shooting

CHICAGO, May 20.—The insidious poison of tattling tongues along a quiet village "Main Street"—This was what swept fire into the veins of 15-year-old Lucille Wunsch and guided the pistol which last midnight spat vengeance on the "other woman" who had made her mother cry and the father to whom a new passion had come in the "dangerous forties" when the toil of earlier years had given place to a luxury of comparative wealth.

Snubs of companions in the Thornton township high school where she was a junior; whisperings as she passed down the street which told of a triangle too deep for her understanding brought her to the point of crime. This was revealed today as she sat crying softly in her cell in the Riverdale jail.

Wait in Darkness.

All through a long night, they waited in the darkness until about midnight, they heard the crunching footsteps on the gravel walk which told of some one approaching. Lucille's hand stole under the cape she was wearing and as her father and Miss Simneck round the corner, her father's arm around his alleged affinity the gun which she had carried with her spoke once—a staccato bark on the stillness of the quiet Chicago suburb.

"You've broken up our home," a childish voice cried out stridently on the night air.

Then the pistol's message of death rang out again and a woman lay crumpled up at the feet of the girl who stood over her, her childish figure silhoutted against the bright,

The ladies' auxiliary of Private Eddy post No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will sell poppies here next Saturday, the campaign to be directed by Mrs. Laura Hughes. Headquarters for the day will be maintained in the lobby of the Little building.

CHICAGO, May 20.—The Shepherd-McClintock cauldron was set seething again here this afternoon with an unheralded announcement that the grand jury would be called for special session this afternoon at 3 o'clock to "take up matters pertaining to the Shepherd case."

An electric tension, seething with rumors, followed the announcement.

"An indictment for bribery," this was the gossip on all tongues about the court house.

Mrs. Towns, bleeding from bullet wounds in her face and neck, managed to drag herself from the blazing cottage. She is in a serious condition.

All industries in town were shut down and 2,500 men, women and children in automobiles and afoot joined in the search for the robber and kidnaped girl.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., May 20.—James Taylor, village watchman, was bound and gagged this morning in the Miller Hamsher clothing and shoe store at DeGraff. Clothing and shoes, valued at several thousand of dollars, are missing from the store. Taylor said three robbers made him a prisoner before escaping with their loot. There are no clues.

When Taylor failed to return to his home early this morning, his wife notified Mayor Smith and a searching party was organized.

Acting Upon W. C. T. U. Request, Attorney General Calls Upon Local Officials to Stop Sale of "Unfit Reading."

COLUMBUS, May 20.—Attorney General Crabbe today advised county prosecutors throughout the state that it is up to the local officials to enforce the Ohio statute prohibiting circulation of obscene magazines and papers.

After citing the law, the attorney general requested each of the officials to exercise diligence in removing such periodicals from news stands.

Crabbe's action was brought about by a letter from Florence D. Richards, president of the Ohio W. C. T. U., naming numerous magazines which she declared were "obscene and unfit reading."

THINGS HUM IN ONTARIO ON EVE OF ADVENT OF SALE OF REAL BEER

Eager Canadians Brush Off Long Unused Bars to Prepare for Rush of Thirsty Americans.

DETROIT, Mich., May 20.—Over in Ontario today things are humming.

Eager Canadians, keyed up to the task, are brushing dust off long unused bars and watch it hover in a swirl of dryness in hollow rooms. They laugh at the humor of it, for tomorrow afternoon the humidity of 4.4 per cent beer will absorb the remaining remnants of dryness and the rooms will be set reverberating with American voices.

Promptly at 12:01 o'clock tomorrow the great American race will be on. At that hour Ontario statutes will permit of the taking of casks and casks of the 4.4 per cent beverage from government warehouses. It will be sped by fast trucks to border city bars of the province and the clink of Canadian schupers and American money will merge merrily.

Barrooms in Windsor.

Over in Windsor, which is expecting the bulk of American trade, licensed barrooms have been set up. In the Prince Edward hotel, a large basement room has been made to resemble an old fashioned English tap room. The clerk's desk at the King George hotel has been moved to the second floor and the lobby stands dedicated to the sale of the amber beverage. The British-American hotel has added 35 tables in anticipation of the rush. All in all, the 12 Windsor hotels to which licenses have been granted, will accommodate 5,000 persons.

Today came the announcement that Albert Dewey Wells, the American vice consul at Windsor, has sponsored the establishment of the American club. A year's lease on a $75,000 private residence has been secured, and the club has been organized by 15 charter members — most of them Americans in Windsor. The small initiation fee of $10 and dues of $2 a month owe their meagerness to the fact that the club expects to sustain itself by the sale of the new beer.

Novelist Ibanez's Son Arrested.

PARIS, May 20.—Siegfried Lascos Ibanez, second son of the famous Spanish novelist, was arrested last Sunday believed as a reprisal against his father's attacks on King Alphonso it was learned today.

So-called "Four Percent" Beer No More Than "Chaser"

CLEVELAND, May 20.—United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen today predicted a short life for the expected great rush to Canada for "4.4 per cent" beer.

"The beer that will be legally sold will be no more than a good chaser for whisky," Bernsteen said and went further to explain that the American way of figuring beer would make the Canadian beer only 2.2 per cent by volume. "The Canadian way of figuring beer is by weight and ours by volume. The difference is exactly half, so there won't be such a great kick," Bernsteen declared.

TWO STATE DRY AGENTS SEARCH FIVE HOMES IN LISBON VISIT

James Miller Pleads Guilty and is Fined $750.

Corn Liquor Dug Out of Spoil Banks of Coal Stripping.

Five places were searched, one plea of guilty was entered, another suspect was released under bond for a hearing Tuursday night and two other men were questioned, as a result of a surprise visit of two state prohibition agents in Lisbon yesterday.

The liquor investigators came to Lisbon following a morning trip to Salem.

James Miller, residing near the Miller stripping operation on the Lisbon-Leetonia road, pleaded guilty of possession of liquor in the court of Mayor Frank E. Albrecht, and was fined $750, half of which he paid. He made arrnagements to pay the balance.

When Miller was taken into custody, two other Lisbon men were questioned at the village building. As a result of the conference, the charge was filed against Miller.

Eight quarts of corn liquor were dug out of the spoil banks by one of the state agents and Constable Clarence Wetzel of Center township. Marshal Roy Lewton and a second state man, working on other banks, found no contraband. The bottles, covered with slime, were taken to the Mayor's office.

After this raid the raiders went to the "chewing gum" factory, located on the Lisbon-East Liverpool road near the Beaver Creek bridge Lincoln highway, and searched the place of George Bell. Nothing was found there.

They went to the south side of this building, and Nick Buta was found sitting on the porch of his home. The raiders, going to the bank of Beaver Creek, unearthed a five-gallon jug of whisky.

Sticks Mark Liquor Cache.

Buta was taken to the mayor's office. He denied he owned the liquor and posted bond for his appearance Thursday night. He has retained Attorney Charles C. Connell.

"Here's your jug, you want to take it with you?" one of the state raiders inquired when Buta was about to leave the office of Mayor Albrecht last night.

"No mine," he responded.

After the Buta raid the party went to the county home of Steve Davner, but found no evidence of a violation.

Two other search warrants have been issued.

Spots where the bottles of whisky were buried in the spoil banks at the Miller stripping operation were marked by sticks and clumps of sod. There was no evidence obtained by the searching party that the liquor was manufactured on the premises, it being the opinion of the state agents that the liquor was taken there from Youngstown.

JAMES HODGKINSON, C. & P. TICKET AGENT, "JACK HOLT'S DOUBLE," HAS "MILLION DOLLAR SMILE"

James Hodgkinson

James Hodgkinson, Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad ticket agent, "Jack Holt's double," has a "million dollar smile," says the Pennsylvania News, published at Pittsburgh for the benefit of all Pennsylvania railroad employes.

In the current issue, the editor pays this tribute to East Liverpool and the city's ticket agent:

"East Liverpool, O., on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division, is the oldest pottery town in America. There, in 1839, was the first pottery established, and there too, today, is the newest and largest pottery in the world. It is a town of potteries and potters, and potters are fine people.

In East Liverpool they make pretty dishes by the million, and in addition to making fine ware the potters travel extensively, also. Singularly, too, that the ticket agent there, one of the finest and best ticket agents in the United States and none other than the genial 'Jim' Hodgkinson should be a master potter.

Prince Among Men.

"To the people of East Liverpool and thereabouts Jim is known as the ticket agent with 'The Million Dollar Smile,' 'Double of Jack Holt the Movie Star,' 'Prince Among Men,' and a lot of other good things too numerous to mention. It may be possible that there are other ticket agents who possess a keener appreciation of the finer ethics in handling patrons; it may also be possible that there were better potters who worked at the bench when Hodgkinson did years ago, the writer doubts it, but it is hardly possible that a finer potter would be again found who would have a vision of service in the railroad world, a vision born across the sea, and leave the interesting profession of turning out beautiful things at the wheel for the like interesting profession of selling tickets to thousands of his profession on the other side of the world from his boyhood home.

"Jim" has worked on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania Railroad system for 21 years. From the potteries of Elturia in far away North Staffordshire, England, he came to us. The son of a potter, he learned the art of making the famous Jaspar ware, Queensware, and Royal Ironstone Bone China, and he dreamed, as his wheel turned before him, this little English boy, of a bright future in far off America and a job on the railroad in the land of the "Stars and Stripes."

"His brother, William was a pointsman, i. e., switch or leverman, and his Uncle John an engineer on the London and Northwestern railroad in England.

"At the tender age of 14 years among James left his dear old home on the Isles and took passage to America, the land of his dreams. He landed and came to East Liverpool, the pottery center of the United States, to seek a job as a potter. Not only did he find it, and worked as a potter for a time, but he found his star of hope materialize.

"He got a position on the C. & P. division, and immediately there beamed over his face the smile that has been there ever since, the smile that the 135,917 people who bought tickets at his window in one short twelvemonth period learned to speak of as "The Million Dollar Smile," the smile which the writer has caught with his camera.

'Jim' loves the Pennsylvania Railroad and the people, his people of East Liverpool, and they in turn love him. The writer knows. I heard his name mentioned over a hundred times while there and one thing I know, I am sure of, and that is "Jim" Hodgkinson's place. his shoes, and his ticket window is going to be mighty hard for the next man to fill when "Jim" makes out his own ticket for the land of his reward.

Knows The Potter's Heart

Being a potter himself, he knows the problems, the joys, the sorrows, and the ideals of the potters and caters to them in a way that makes him admired and respected by business men, and women, and loved by little children. His office force has

German Movies Make Inroads in Japan; Films Much Cheaper

TOKYO—German films threaten to crowd the American movies out of the Japanese market, according to Taro Tajima, Chief of the Cinema Censorship Bureau of the Tokyo Metropolitan Police. The chief reason, according to Tajima, is that the Germen films are cheaper.

"Germany is producing good pictures on a large scale at the present time, and these films are attracting the attention of Japanese film fans," said Tajima. "European films are cheaper than the American productions, and that unquestionably appeals to Japanese purchasers very much."

Japanese film production is increasing, Tajima said, but distribution is limited to the home market, there being no demand abroad for Japanese films.

English Polo Expert Urges Youngsters to Copy U. S. Methods

LONDON, May.—If the suggestion of Lord Wodehouse, English polo authority, is taken, England will begin preparations immediately to regain the International Polo cup from America in 1927.

"An English team should be brought into existence as soon as possible," Lord Wodehouse says.

"It is absolutely essential, too, to encourage young players by giving them practice in first-class polo, so that the may be ready to take their places in the international side when the time comes for the seasoned players to drop out. This plan has been adopted with the greatest success in America. The manner in which the Americans have run their polo during the past fifteen years should be an object lesson to those who control the destinies of English polo."

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 3

Mountain-Grown Teas Best

The tea plant grows best in the pure cool atmosphere of a mountain tea garden. The higher the garden, the finer and more delicious the flavor of the tea. This is partly due to the clear sunshine on a high mountain side, partly to the more invigorating air, partly to the more frequent rainfall and perfect drainage. The largest and roughest leaf grown at an elevation of 7000 feet is much superior in flavor to the tiniest tip grown only 2000 feet above sea-level. All teas used in the "SALADA" blends are grown from 4000 feet to 7,500 feet elevation. The trademark "SALADA" is a guarantee of quality.

CRISIS NEAR IN RIFF WAR

Tribesmen Mass for Decisive Battle in French Morocco.

PARIS, May 20.—Dispatches from Fez today indicated the situation in French Morocco was rapidly approaching a crisis with Riffian tribesmen massing for a decisive battle with augmented forces of French soldiers.

Abd-El-Kirm, Riff leader and sometimes known as the "Robin Hood of the desert," has ordered conscription of his troops and a general mobilization of the entire Riff strength, the dispatch stated.

The French were reported to be receiving heavy reinforcements and to be concentrating areoplanes in an effort to reassure native tribes which are of doubtful loyalty and which the French feared might join Abd-El-Kirm.

FRENCH DEBT OFFER LOOMS

Painleve Will Announce Policy Toward U. S. Bill on Saturday.

PARIS, May 20.—By Saturday the French government expects to make known its policy regarding its war debt to the United States. A high official of the finance ministry said today that the government expected by that time to complete a draft of its proposal to Washington as a basis for negotiations.

President Painleve of the chamber of deputies, Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand, as a result of their meeting yesterday, have decided to call into their discussions the financial experts, Jacques Seydoux and Philippe Berthelot, this authority said.

"You can say," said this official, "that the war debt question is in a 'technical' stage internally, because the French government is working out a technical basis for negotiation. Internationally, the negotiations between the United States and France have not reached a 'technical' stage, being still in a 'diplomatic' stage of conversations between United States Ambassador Herrick, Finance Minister Caillaux and Foreign Minister Briand."

MURDERS GIRL, KILLS HIMSELF

Double Tragedy Occurs in Cleveland Rooming House.

CLEVELAND, May 20.—Marie Porringer, 28, a comely Youngstown girl, was murdered today by her alleged lover, Peter Nunnara, 32, of Cleveland, who then committed suicide. The double tragedy occurred at an East Side rooming house.

Police thus far have been unable to learn anything that sheds light upon the crime. Nunnara and Miss Porringer last night went to a room at an East Side address. This morning the landlady heard shots. Rushing to the room, she found Miss Porringer dead, and Nunnara dying. Miss Porringer had been shot three times. Nunnara died on his way to the hospital.

Two telegrams, signed by the girl, were found in the room. One dated Youngstown, May 4, read:

"Wire fare if you want me back. Sorry this happened."

The second was dated the following day and read:

"Leaving on the 2 o'clock bus. Meet me at East Ninth street."

it's all about." You may truly say the same of a system of "justice" that sentences to death a feeble-minded boy of 15.

A New York lady ran a baby farm. The babies died rapidly, especially if their board bills were not paid. One poor infant dug up after burial had a fractured skull. The rate of mortality was horrible.

If anybody kept such a farm for baby dogs or cats, the "cruelty to animals society" would probably supervise and regulate it. How does it happen that the so-called Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children knew nothing about the baby farm or its deaths?

Congress will vote for the newest censorship, which will be a censorship on foreign credit. Nations not paying us what they owe won't be allowed to borrow from American citizens. That's one part of the plan.

And, private American loans to European nations will be forbidden if the money is to be spent for war or war preparation.

That worries some of our debtor friends in Europe, and they have another worry. They owe gigantic sums to Great Britain and the British say:

If you pay the United States, you must pay us, dollar for dollar.

Three Are Shot

moonlight sky, the smoking gun clutched in her hand.

Wunsch yelled and ran toward his daughter. The gun was lowered menacingly but just as the childish finger squeezed the trigger, Mrs. Wunsch threw herself forward, stopping the bullet intended for the man who had played false to his vows.

Remorse Over Mother's Wound.

But Lucille was in a frenzy. She paid no heed to mother's voice which cried out pleadingly:

"Lucille, Lucille, why did you do it? Why didn't you tell me about the gun."

Another shot and the gun was emptied, and the father had been added to the list of victims.

Wunsch and his wife were taken to a hospital, where it was said both probably would recover. Miss Simneck, however, was found to have suffered bullet wounds in both lungs and physicians say they believe she would die.

Lucille, oldest of five children, was being held on an open charge today while police decide what disposition to make of her case.

Since taken into custody she has showed remorse only for the wounding of her mother.

Of her father and Miss Simneck, she said:

"They cheated me and lied. They deserved what they got."

So far, partly because of the girl's highly nervous condition and partly because, pending the outcome of the injuries of her victims, police are at a loss as to just what disposition to make of her case, she has not been questioned to any extent. This afternoon, however, according to police, she will be asked to explain the details of her midnight attack.

And one aim of the examination, police say, will be to determine positively that it was she and not her mother, Mrs. Birdie Wunsch, who fired the shots from which Anna Simneck, 28, William Wunsch's alleged affinity, is dying at a hospital.

Before lapsing into unconsciousness from which physicians say she probably never will revive, Miss Simneck may have been referring to Lu-

"The woman shot me. The woman shot me."

This, police at first believed, indicated the mother had fired the shots but the girl's statement and the fact that the mother also suffered a minor wound, led them to believe Miss Simneck may have been refereing to Lucille.

Events Leading Up To Shooting

The story of the events leading up to the shooting, as related over back yard fences, time and again, are, Riverdale holds, substantially as follows:

"Wunsch, in the late forties, possessed of wealth accumulated through a 20-year upward fight from comparative poverty, during which his wife had helped and saved to raise the family of five, met Miss Simneck two years ago at a social affair.

Miss Simneck is pretty, wears clothes well, and talks, or rather talked, in the vivacious manner of the girl of the new generation, on many subjects and always to Wunsch in an interesting vein.

To the man worn in the groves of years of routine toil, she represented mental change, relaxation and companionship of a sort that his aging wife did not afford.

Miss Simneck began to be seen about in the Wunsch automobile—and village tongues began to wag.

Wife Demands Explanation.

Faint whispers of this and that came to Mrs. Wunsch but she refused to believe them, until at last, she saw for herself and demanded an explanation. It came, brutally, in words that told her she was "growing old" and that she "hadn't progressed."

She turned then to the woman. Riverdale will tell you, and warned her:

"Keep away from my husband."

This was 18 months ago and Miss Simneck's only answer then is said to have been:

"Why don't you keep him away from me?"

A year ago came the first open clash, according to the records in Riverdale gossip's ledger. Neighbors told Mrs. Wunsch they "wouldn't stand for it," for in Riverdale anyone's business is very much everybody's business.

And Mrs. Wunsch, driven by worry and a growing hatred of the "other woman," waited one night until she found Miss Simneck and Wunsch together. With a hat pin and goaded the home of George Trapp, her step-by rage, she drove Miss Simneck to father, with whom she made her home.

Then word of the triangle came to Lucille. A girl companion at school remarked:

"I won't talk to her. Her father carries on so."

Lucille, stung deeply, walked home to ask of her mother:

"Why?"

"Why don't they invite me to parties anymore?" she asked, her big black eyes clouded with a question she could not answer. "And why do they talk about father so?"

The mother thought it best to explain and Lucille emerged from the talk with her mother with her first knowledge of life as it is lived.

And she brooded.

Daughter and Mother Wait.

Last night her father left home at 8 o'clock "to attend a meeting of the village board"—he was a town trustee—and a short time later Lucille called the Trapp home on the telephone and asked for "Anna." Anna, she was told, was "out for the evening."

She sought out her mother and together they went to the Trapp home to wait. Minutes passed into hours and finally, after most of Riverdale was asleep, after the clock in the little town church had struck midnight, Wunsch and Miss Simneck, their arms around each other, came down the drive.

It was then that the girl's spirit flared, then that her hand tightened on the gun she carried concealed beneath her cloak, then that she sought "justice" for her mother from the muzzle of the .38 caliber revolver.

Father Cheated, Says Girl

CHICAGO, May 20.—"Mother's praying for me because mother believes in God.

"She went through all the hard years with my father, pinching and scraping to clothe us five children and then he cheated with her for a pretty face.

"They tell me this Anna may die. I'm sorry, of course, but I'd rather she dies than live and make my mother unhappy again."

Chased Woman With Hatpin.

"It was two years ago," the child continues, her eyes looking out unafraid at her questioners, "that father met this Anna. She lives over at George Trapp's. He's her stepfather. She's pretty, prettier and younger than my mother.

"My father and this Anna began to go together. My mother went to George Trapp and told him what was going on. But Trapp didn't do anything.

"And a year ago, my mother caught Anna Simneck and my father together and she ran Anna all the way home with a hatpin. But my father and Anna kept sneaking out to meet each other.

"My mother's eyes have always been red lately from crying. And when she would talk to my father to plead with him to leave Anna alone—she did it when she didn't think I could hear ——— he'd curse her.

"One day I told mother I knew and that I would help her.

"So last night we waited for them to come back to Trapps."

Here the tale breaks. The girl does not discuss the shooting, beginning that event with a brief silence and plunging into its consequences.

"My father will get well," she says, "and"—there is a certain hardness, a hardness beyond the years about her lips—"when he does he'd better be good to my mother."

CERAMIC BOOKS SCHUBERT SHOW

"Artists Models" is Extraordinary Offering on May 26.

New dancing slippers are required by Veronica, the ballet dancer, at every performance of "Artists and Models," coming to the Ceramic theatre, Tuesday, May 26. Hence the shoemaker of the Messrs. Shubert's production staff in New York has a standing order for nine pair a week.

Veronica's slippers are made of flesh-colored satin, and the soles are of imported birch bark, which is thin and pliable, and very easy on the feet. This bark is stripped and curled by the Irish peasants in Killarney, and has been used there for generations in making boot soles. Only recently was it introduced for stage purposes.

Every season brings a new material for ballet slippers. In the past the immortal Genee wore Russian calfskin. Karsavina of the Ballet Russe encased her feet in Swiss goatskin. Badet brought out the chamois slippers. And Pierrozi, ballerina of the opera in Paris, introduced Morroccan leather.

Birch bark slippers are something new, and are worn by Pavlowa, Kosloff, Fokina and other noted dancers. They are hand made, and are stitched with silk thread. After one performance they become soft and soiled and are useless for further ballet dancing. The cast-off slippers are given to the chorus girl, who wear them for their weekly rehearsals.

ISSUE BONDS TO FINISH DAM

Council Passes Ordinance for $38,000 Securities.

An ordinance to issue bonds amounting to $38,000, to provide funds for the completion of the city's water works system, was passed by council last night on first reading.

The absence of two members, Councilmen Nicholson and Ewing, prevented emergency action by the solons on the measure.

The passage of the ordiance followed an explanatory address by William J. Sherman, of the Sherman Engineering Co., of Toledo, in charge of the work, who told why the city must have $38,000 over and above the original bond issue of approximately $25,000.

Approximately $22,000 remains in the special water fund at the present time, which, council was informed, may keep the contractors going until the sale of the new bonds.

Councilmen agreed that it would be better to spend $38,000 more and perfect the system than lose the whole job.

In his talk to solons, Mr. Sherman quoted figures to show the standing of the water works finances.

The cost of the entire project, complete, now is estimated at $286,963.08, he said.

Expenditures to date have amounted to $226,639.15, cash on hand amounts to $22,931.29. Subtracted from the total estimated cost, these figures leave a deficit of $37,392, which will be covered by the bond issue.

Mr. Sherman pointed out that the city spent $11,164.76 before a tap of work was done on the present system. He outlined the expenditures as $1,000 to the Chester Engineering Co., $6,785 to the Knowles Engraving Co., and $3,379.78 to repairs on old water works machinery. All this money, he pointed out, was taken from the original bond issue for the water system that is now being built.

In addition to these costs, he listed a number of "unanticipated expenditures," which, he explained, may be expected in any contract of the nature. These costs amount to $26,227 88.

He explained them figure by figure. New pipe cost $3,399. He explained that contractors had been promised by the city a quantity of 18-inch pipe used by the old reservoir and then, he said, the promise was withdrawn and the contractors were forced to buy over $3,000 worth of pipe, thus boosting the costs. He listed $1,900 as the cost of washout on the work, due entirely to weather conditions. Then, he explained, the state board of health ruled that the water would have to be chlorinated. To do this, it was necessary to spend $1,272.49 for equipment.

Extra foundations cost an additional $8,856.39.

Foundations, he declared, developed unusual expenses and presented extraordinary difficulties at times. In this case, Mr. Sherman explained, it was necessary to get the core wall of the dam down to an impervious strata. There were no "ifs nor ands" about it, Mr. Sherman said, and any other plan was entirely impossible.

Overhead costs due to delays in the completion of the contract were estimated at $10,800. As provided by a clause in the contract, however, the city, it was said, can recover from the contracting company for each day over the time limit for the completion of the contract.

Service-Safety Director A. P. Dennis, as well as City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, asserted that the new water system would make a saving of approximately $20,000 yearly in operating expenses, although, others pointed out, the interest on the $286,000 investment must be considered for a number of years.

Following Mr. Sherman's explanation, the subject was thrown open for discussion for solons and members of the audience as well. J. R. Mosby, Eighteenth street, urged council not to act in haste on the passage of the new bond issue, suggested the appointment of a committee to go into the history of the legislative operations in connection with the whole project, and asserted, that in his belief, the city was not getting its money's worth.

The bond issue will probably be passed on second reading at an adjourned meeting of the solons tomorrow night.

VETS WILL SELL BUDDY POPPIES

"Wear a V. F. W. Buddy Poppy on Memorial Day" is the slogan adopted by Corporal Dan D. Duty post No. 180, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for their annual Memorial Day poppy sale which will be launched here next week. The buddy poppy sale is conducted nationally as well as locally by the Veterans of Foreign Wars each year during the week in which Memorial Day falls.

All the buddy poppies used in the Veterans of Foreign Wars' sale are made by disabled and needy ex-service men and the entire proceeds are used for relief work to alleviate conditions of distress occasioned by sikness or unemployment.

President Coolidge, following the example of the two preceding presidents, has signified his warm accord with the V. F. W. poppy plan. Outstanding women's clubs and patriotic organizations, professional organizations and trades' associations covering practically every branch of industrial and professional life have also expressed their cordial endorsements of the sale.

ASK SOLONS TO 'TURNOUT' MAY 30

Wellsville city council members last night formally accepted the invitation of Wellsville post 70, American Legion, to turn out for the Memorial day ceremonies which will be held by the ex-service men here on Saturday, May 30.

The Legion will hold the usual ceremonies at Fourth and Riverside in the morning, followed by a parade to the cemetery.

LEGION DRIVE TO OPEN JUNE 2

The Wellsville American Legion post's endowment drive for disabled veterans of the World war and orphans will formally be launched on Tuesday, June 2, officials of the organization announced today.

The state-wide drive, however, will not get under way until June 15, as a result of a recent postponement.

The campaign in Ohio originally was scheduled to start the first week in June, but it was pointed out because of poppy sales and Memorial Day ceremonies a great number of the posts will be taxed to the limit, so the opening day was set back.

The Wellsville post, however, having completed arrangements for a June 2 opening, will go ahead on that plan. Because of the added time, slightly different methods will be used. The campaign will start rather quietly, post officers said, and will increase in intensity until Sunday, June 7, when a novelty feature will be introduced.

As a result of the extra period of time, Wellsville post expects to go over the top first.

ADVISES USE OF LICENSE FUNDS

Edward T. Gogo, president of the Columbiana County Motor club, appearing before city council last night, urged that some use be made of $8,880 which is now to the credit of the auto license fund.

He pointed out that this money can be used for no other purpose, under state laws, than for the repair of city streets, and urged that such work be done immediately. He referred to the vast amount of cash invested by Wellsville citizens in automobiles, and expressed the opinion that the auto license money, which is derived directly from the sale of these automobiles, be used now to repair streets over which the vehicles travel.

Expenditures from the auto license fund are controllable only by the service director, and consequently the matter was referred by council to Director A. P. Dennis.

STREET PAVING BONDS ARE SOLD

Approximately $70,000 worth of city improvement bonds, providing funds for the pavement of Lisbon street and Wells avenue, yesterday were sold to the Stranahan, Harris and Otic Co., bond brokers, of Toledo, O.

The Toledo firm topped a list of 14 bidders who submitted proposals for the street bonds. The successful bidders offered a premium of $3,939.70 on the bonds.

The Toledo firm will pay into the city treasury $72,839.70 and actual work on the paving project by the George B. Patterson Co., will be started. This transaction, according to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, should not require more than a week or 10 days.

Of the total amount, $65,000 goes into the street fund for paving work. The interest for the first year, $3,900, plus the premium of $3,939.70, will be deposited in the sinking fund.

O. K. APPLICATION FOR SCHOLARSHIP

A copy of the resolution sent by the commissioners to Wooster college, approving Miss Mountain's application has been received by City Clerk George Hardman.

Defense Day

Objections to combining Armistice Day with National Defense Day are natural and logical. The two do not agree in spirit.

Armistice Day commemorates the glad day that ended the greatest and cruelest of wars. It celebrates peace. Defense Day inevitably suggests war.

Armistice Day looks back upon fighting with a sense of blessed relief that it is over. Defense implies more fighting. It inevitably contemplates new wars.

If we are to have a formal Defense Day, and are to link it with any other national festival instead of giving it a place of its own on the calendar, the best suggestion yet offered is that of President Coolidge, to combine it with the Fourth of July.

The Fourth of July is a fighting day. Along with rejoicing over the blessings and glories of freedom won, it breathes the militant will to perpetuate them.

If Armistice Day is to be united with any other kind of celebration, it should be combined with a national Peace Day.

Bright Lights

What is said to be the most powerful illumination in history will be turned upon Niagara Falls Monday night, May 25, from the Canadian side, in honor of Queen Victoria's birthday. There will be 13,000,000,000 candle-power, reckoned as equivalent to the lighting of 1,333,000 homes if all their lights were burning. The light will be thrown from a battery of two dozen three-foot searchlights of a new type, designed especially for this purpose.

It will be a gorgeous spectacle. And it will greatly impress the 100,000 or more people who are expected to see it. Perhaps, though, it is just as well that the display is not to be continued indefinitely. Those wonderful falls should be lighted up at night, but a few billion less candle-power ought to suffice, and would be easier on the beholders' eyes.

For every day, it is better to use that amount of light to illumine 1,333,000 homes, with their 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 people.

Our civilization is running to excessive illumination, anyway, for spectacular purposes. There are "white ways" and areas of blazing advertising signs that waste current needed in dark highways and homes. Eyes are half-blinded, too, by this overlighting. Soon we may have to wear colored goggles at night in public places.

There are light-maniacs as there are speed maniacs, using up valuable energy to do harm to harassed sense and nerves. Light is good, and the race needs more of it. But it needs the light diffused and softened.

Constitutional Hindenburg

President Von Hindenburg, regarded all his life as a typical militarist and in his present sympathies an avowed monarchist, swears to uphold the German constitution. He could not do otherwise, when installed as president of the German republic. Will he keep his oath?

Presumably he will. For Hindenburg, whatever his faults, is considered, even by his enemies, as an honest man. It does not seem likely that he would have accepted the office if he were not reconciled to using it constitutionally.

There will be strenuous efforts, no doubt, on the part of the extreme monarchists, to win Hindenburg over to a coup-d'etat for the restoration of the empire. But it does not seem likely that Hindenburg will sanction violence, nor that violence will be attempted by the monarchists during his term if he refuses to sanction it.

He may propose, sooner or later, some kind of referendum, submitting the issue to the people by constitutional procedure. There can be no objection to that. The German nation is free to change its constitution if it wants to, in preparation for a change to a constitutional monarchy.

Return to a monarchist system so nearly absolute as that of the Hohenzollerns would alarm the rest of the world. But it is hardly thinkable. Americans naturally want to see the German republic persist. But if the Germans eventually decide in favor of a constitutional monarchy like England's or Italy's, that is their own business.

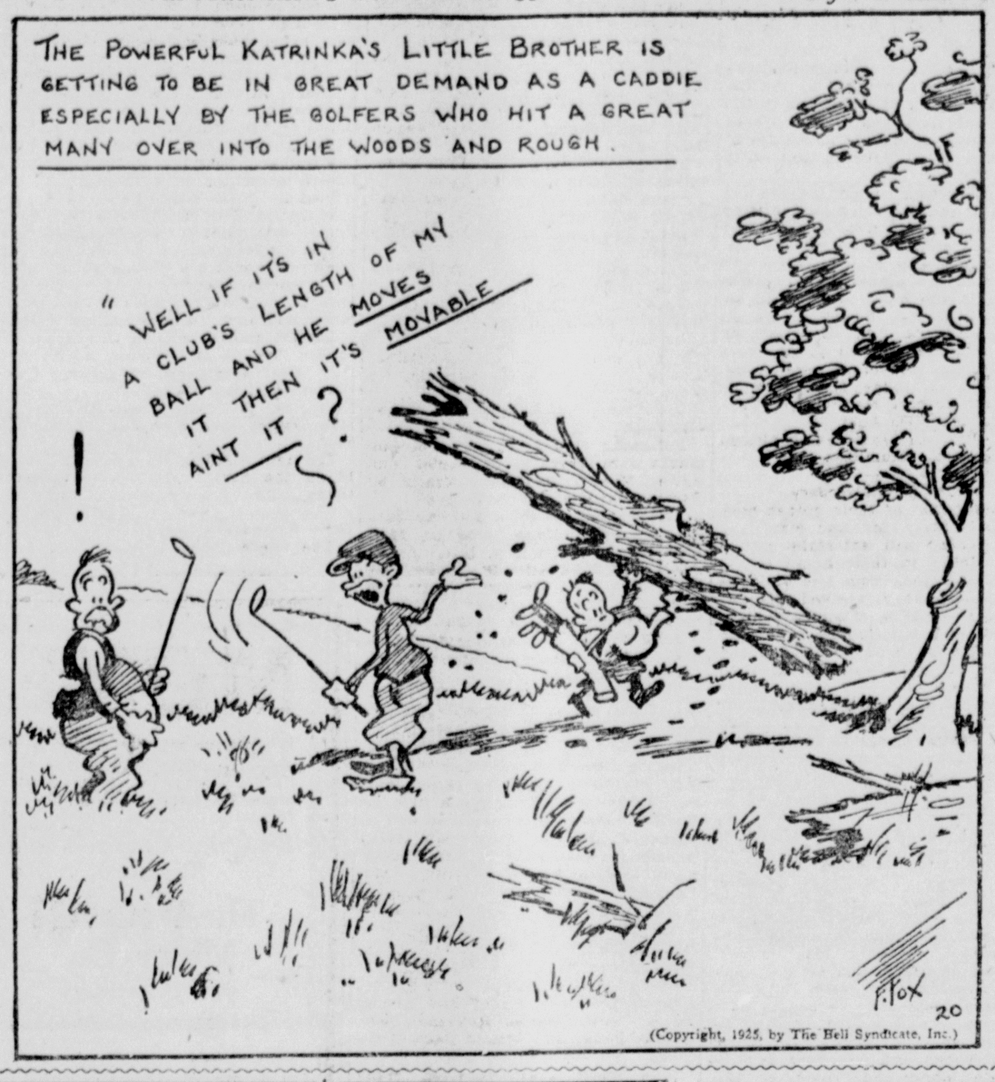
Tree Day For Trees

Because Arbor Day had degenerated into "a common school holiday" devoted to amusement rather than to tree-planting, the minister of education of the Canadian province of Alberta has decided that it is no longer to be a holiday. Children are to go to school as usual, but the day's work is to be devoted to instruction in the care of trees and forests, the beautification of yards with lawns, shade trees and shrubs, the prevention of forest fires and other allied subjects. If after receiving instruction in tree culture, the schools can then adjourn to the school yards and proceed to practice what they have learned by planting real trees, so much the better, says the minister of education.

Americans do not usually think of Canadian woods as being in need of such widespread conservation activities as our own. It is true, however, that they have been seriously ravaged by forest fires and that depletion of American forests increases the drain on those to the north.

All countries that have trees need to take an interest in conservation and reforestation before this fine natural resource is destroyed.

The Powerful Katrinka's Little Brother— By Fontaine Fox



NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 20.—Manhattan's touch and go at times becomes just a bit too strenuous. One grows weary of being buffeted about in the maelstrom of traffic. Our manners here may be no more careless than in other bustling centers, but they seem so.

At such times there is a certain Fifth Avenue promenader who offers a welcome relief. I like to think of him as the last aristocrat. He is I imagine in his late sixties. There is a military clip to his white mustache and his cheeks are ruddy with vigor.

His dress is the quiet, immaculate splendor of the gentleman born. I have often watched him leave the dignity of his exclusive club in the late afternoon. He carries that relic of the early nineties—the gold headed cane.

He stops at the florist for a carnation to wear, very brave in his coat lapel. He saunters. He does not push and jostle—a sort of lone maverick in the thundering herd. Now and then he loiters in front of the windows of the private art saloons.

He crosses the street in a leisurely fashion. You sense the charm and delicacy of a man who has learned to live pleasantly above the mob. If he happens to be jostled he does not turn with a snarl. He turns with a bow and in a dignified lift of his hat.

He idles in front of the booksellers and at times stops in to select some new volume. Art is often represented by a beard or a flowing tie. This man appears to represent aristocracy by perfect gentility.

I was walking behind him the other day. People unconsciously turned to watch him. At Forty-second street and Fifth avenue a jaunty young thing in a cloche hat, whose sheer stockings showed above the knees and whose eye lashes were beaded with cunning, saw him.

She stopped, turned to her companion, and cried impertinently: "Isn't he the cat's pajamas!"

Modern New York greeting the past!

Speaking of modernity, a young man married the other day for the third time. The husband of his first wife was an usher. And he received warm telegrams of congratulations from his other two wives. Chummy!

The ferryboats plying back and forth between Gotham and Staten Island offer many diverting moments. The two man orchestra—violin and harp—plays its repertoire "In the Good Old Summer Time" and "Maggie." The deck walkers emulate their more prosperous fellows of the ocean liners. The energetic shoe shiners—polish 5 cents—rub off 2 cents—do their stuff. The morning crowds are rather glum and silent but are jauntily light-mooded going home from work. The ferry trip offers tired city folk a chance to cool off and refresh themselves with whiffs of the salty tang from the sea. Many Wall street millionaires are patrons of the ferries. They find it an excellent method for exercise. For they can swing round and round the deck without being annoyed by telephone calls or other impediments of a high speed existence.

When on the lower tip of Manhattan it is difficult to imagine that 30 years ago Trinity Church was the biggest building downtown. The big skyscrapers like the Woolworth, Singer and Metropolitan buildings have so completely dwarfed it that Trinity seems today more like a little country church far from the maddening throng.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The German Presidency.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20—The unexpected election of Field Marshal von Hindenburg to the presidency of the German republic and the character, record and past fealty of that doughty old warhorse have aroused almost endless speculation in Europe and in the United States. Is there about to be a restoration of the monarchy which Wilhelm scrapped? That, perhaps, is the question most frequently discussed.

Well informed Germans in this country say that the answer is to be found in the form of government which the German people have established and in the constitutional hobbles which they have put on their president.

Roughly speaking, there are three types of republics. The first is the presidential republic, such as the United States, in which the executive is essentially free of responsibility to the legislative branch, although congress can impeach and remove the president from office, and can veto legislation which he does not approve. The second is the collegiate republic, such as Switzerland and the Hanseatic City-States of Germany under the old regime, in which a college takes the place of a president. The third is the parliamentary republic as in France. The German republic has some features of all three.

The German president is elected by the people, just as is the president of the United States, while the French executive is chosen by the two houses of parliament, united as the national assembly. The American president appoints his own cabinet, subject to confirmation by the senate, and it is responsible only to him. In France and in Germany, on the other hand, the president chooses a cabinet, but it must be acceptable to the parliamentary body for the cabinet "falls" whenever it asks for a vote of confidence and is rejected.

In both France and Germany the parliament not only exercises legislative power but it also controls executive action to a degree, although in Germany the president is not wholly a creature of the parliament. It is stated that he is intended to be a powerful part of the government, and, if need should arise, a check on the parliament to prevent its becoming omnipotent.

Controled by the People.

The fathers of the German constitution wanted a sort of parlimentarism the mechanism of which is controlled by the people and not by the parliament, in other words, they wanted an unadulterated parliament-

There, after the coronation, will come the music and the dances before the queen. Scotch, Russian, Danish, Irish, Italian and English dancers will pass before her. The traditional Maypole winding by college girls in colorful dresses will conclude the ceremony.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Henry Schlag will entertain with a family dinner in their home in Columbiana tonight. From 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon they received friends.

On May 20, 1875, Miss Sarah Jane Sangree, with Mr. Schlag, were married in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sangree, by Rev. Thomsa Johnston, pastor of the Pine Creek Reformed Presbyterian church, at Pine Creek, Pa. Mrs. Schlag was born on the old Sangree farm, occupied first by Mrs. Schlag's grandfather, a pioneer settler, which is now the home of the fourth generation of the family.

Mr. Schlag was born in 1849, in Allegheny City, when it was a village, only Federal street being paved with cobble stones. There were no water works nor present day conveniences. Before his marriage, Mr. Schlag was a traveling salesman for a large manufacturing company, his territory covering 18 states and part of Canada. The first two years of married life were spent on a farm. In 1877, the young couple loaded all their belongings on a hay wagon and moved to Pittsburgh and one year later to Millvale, where they remained until 1896, when the lure of the land brought them to the farm four miles east of Columbiana. In 1910 Mr. Schlag abandoned active farm work and they moved to their present home in Columbiana. Five children of the union are living: Hiram, of Montana; Mrs. Ella Sangree, of near Pittsburgh, and William, Herbert and Mrs. C. Ray Tod, of Columbiana.

K. of C. Meeting.

A special meeting of members of Carroll council No. 509, Knights of Columbus, will be held in the lodge rooms in the Fowler building, Diamond, at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

FORD SUGGESTS TAX ON TOBACCO

George M. Ford, state school superintendent, today declared $2,000,000 annually would be necessary to carry out the provisions of law for state aid to schools. The legislature appropriated $1,250,000 for the purpose for each of the next two years, and Ford appealed to the special committee of the legislature for the remaining $750,000 a year which he estimated would be necessary.

In addition to his request for funds, the school head presented a draft of a bill taxing tobacco, cigars and cigarets, by which he recommended that the money be raised.

Ford proposed a privilege tax on dealers and an excise tax on the tobacco in its various forms, and the bill provided for collection by the state tax commissioner, with the auditor furnishing stamps under orders to pay the money into the general school fund.

The rates suggested by Ford were 10 per cent of the retail price on tobacco and cigars and $2 a thousand on cigarets. The privilege tax he proposed to set at $25 a year for wholesalers, and $20, $10 and $5 a year for retailers, according to the amount of business. In addition he proposed a $1 tax for "special retailers," good for 10 days, and a $1 a year tax on licensed consumers, intended to apply only to persons bringing in tobacco, cigars and cigarets from outside the state for their own use.

INJUNCTION HITS UNION LEADERS

Virtually prohibiting all unionization work on the part of the United Mine Workers, a drastic temporary restraining order was granted by Judge William E. Baker in United States district court in Wheeling to the West Virginia-Pittsburgh Coal company, effective at once. The ruling which granted the injunction followed an order refusing the motion of miners' union counsel to dismiss the petition for the new restraining order.

A motion to dissolve the injunction was immediately offered by Attorney T. C. Townsend, defense counsel. Judge Baker ruled that the injunction will remain in effect until Monday, June 1, when he will hold a special term of federal court to hear arguments on the motion of dissolution.

GAS STATIONS TO BE LISTED

County Auditor's Office Busy; Additional Work Added.

Following the receipt of additional instructions from the office of the tax commission at Columbus, the office of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, during the next six months will be more active than ever in the history of the county.

The office has been ordered by the commission to appraise all the real property of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power Co., within the county and another order has just been received from the commission ordering the aduitor to file forthwith a complete record of every gasoline filing station in this county.

The office is now in the midst of the following activities:

Compiling a new real estate tax duplicate.

Correcting approximately 20,000 personal property returns.

Preparing to compile a new personal property tax duplicate.

Supervising the work of 35 assessors now in the field.

Taking part in hearings held by the board of revision for the purpose of correcting recent re-appraisal records, of which there are about 1,500.

Supervising the re-appraisement of real estate and buildings in East Palestine as requested by residents there.

Preparing records for the collection of cigarette taxes for the next fiscal year.

Compiling a record of owners of dogs who have not paid license fee for 1925 registration as required by law.

In addition to these particular charges there is also the daily routine of the office to be taken care of.

Under laws passed by the last legislature, additional work has been added to the office of the county auditor, and as official copies of these laws are now being received, old codes are being revised, and the work of the office being arranged to conform with the new statutaes.

ORIGINAL LAND GRANTS RECORDED

Two original land grants, one 95 years old and another 99 years old have just been filed for record in this county by Thomas Carey of Franklin township.

The first of these grants was from the United States to Richard Carey, for lands in the east half of the northwest quarter section of section 30 in Franklin township. This grant was signed by President J. Q. Adams, Aug. 12, 1826.

The second grant was from the United States to Mr. Carey and was for lands in the west half of the northeast quarter section 30 in Franklin. This grant was signed Nov. 1, 1830 by President Andrew Jackson.

These lands have never been outside the Carey family, but never until now have the original grants been filed for record. Parchment upon which the text of these grants both engraved and written are in an excellent state of preservation, although both parchment sheets are a little brown with age.

ASSESSORS SOON TO FINISH WORK

Assessors who are now in the field have been ordered to complete their work within 10 days of eight hours each, and for which labor they will receive $4 per diem.

This is the last year that the assessors will go into the field as having been elected, a new law making it mandatory upon the county auditor to appoint assessors.

It is the opinion of Deputy County Auditor Elmer E. Walker that the assessors will complete their work within three weeks, although no particular date was given for the assessors to begin their survey.

MADE PROFIT OF $10,000 IN ONLY THREE WEEKS

By simply following the advise of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, O., considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advise of friends, after having taken, as he says, "barrels of medicine without result," he began a treatment of Ka-di-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Owen declared to the Ka-di-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself "$10,000 better off." This is a genuine statement coming from a most grateful friend of Ka-di-ok, and what Ka-di-ok did for Mr. Carr it has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousand more, if sufferers will but give it a chance by taking a treatment.

Mr. Owen Carr

EIGHT NAMED IN JUDGMENT

Findings Made in Defunct Ohio Patriot Note Suit.

Judgment for $245. 52 each have been entered in common pleas court against Norman McFarland, Frederick Eardley, T. C. Flick, of East Liverpool; J. D. White, of Lansing, Mich.; J. D. Clouser, H. J. Farmer and C. M. Wright, of Lisbon, and R. P. Crawford, of Wooster, in the case of E. L. Bradfield and others against E. A. Birkheimer and other defendants named.

The petition in this case was filed September 16, 1924, by Attorney Harry Brokaw, of East Liverpool, for the purpose of collecting from the defendnts their proportionate share of a note for $6,000 given by the plaintiffs and the defendants to the People's State bank of Lisbon to be used for the benefit of the defunct Ohio Patriot of Lisbon.

It is related in the petition that the plaintiffs have paid the note in full, which was 90 days after acceptance by the bank, and that each of the defendants still owes $245.52 as their share of the note.

H. D. Morris, of Lisbon, who was one of the defendants named in this action, was given leave on October 20, last, by the court to plead by November 1, last.

There was a trial in this action and the finding was for the amounts due the plaintiff, and with the judgment the costs have also been taxed.

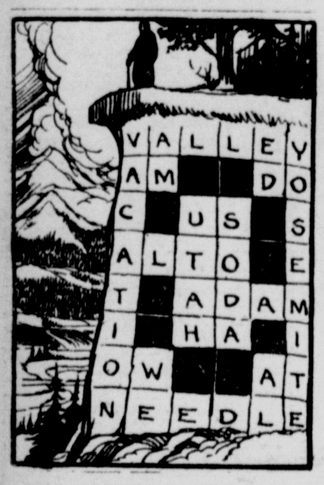
Yesterday's Puzzle Answered



Woman's Recompense

"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework," says Mrs. Harry Ashcroft of Covington, Ky. "I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. One day I read how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped others and decided to try it. I want to praise this wonderful medicine for the health and strength it has given me and ask other suffering women to try it." This is the one great dependable medicine for woman's ills.

THEATRE

THURSDAY

Norma Talmadge returns to the screen of the American theatre Thursday night in her latest photo-drama, "The Only Woman."

This feature shows Norma reunited with her erstwhile leading man Eugene O'Brien, and the pair wend their way through a sequence of highly emotional love scenes which reach a climax in a thrillingly realistic yacht wreck.

The story, written by C. Gardner Sullivan, reverses the usual theme of sacrifices by parents for their children, and submits the problem of a girl who sacrifices herself on the altar of marriage to save her father from financial ruin and disgrace.

Though she hates the man, she marches up the church aisle amid a throng of society friends and becomes his bride, and they launch upon a honeymoon with hardly a cheery prospect in view.

It is on this honeymoon, designed as a yachting cruise on the Mediterranean, that a terrific storm arises. All members of the crew are swept overboard to destruction, and it is only through Eugene's aid that Norma is saved.

At the height of the storm a three-masted schooner bears down upon the yacht, smashing it amidships and rending the little vessel into splinters.

How Norma and Eugene finally are rescued and she comes to a realization that she loves her husband are details left for you to see on the screen.

rism. Therefore, they gave the president an entirely different status from that of the French president, but also different from that of the American president who is independent of congress in his sphere of action. The nearest parallel to the German presidency is to be found in a parliamentary monarchy, such as that in Great Britain.

As seen in the light of constitutional law, the German president stands between the presidents of America and France; he is weaker than the one and stronger than the other. The separation of legislative and executive power makes him independent in his own province, but this province is limited, for he can act only with the counter-signature of a cabinet member. Should the minister encounter the displeasure of the Reichstag he will "fail" over his signature and must be replaced by another man who will be more cautious. Thus in the ultimate, the president is always dependent on the Reichstag.

It will be seen that, in effect, the internal policy as well as the foreign policy of the German president is determined by the majority of the parliamentary body, the Reichstag. However, in President Hindenburg's case, the division of the parties is nearly even between the parties of the right and the left bloc, with no clear-cut majority on either side, but always with a republican majority so long as the communists join the other left parties. No monarchistic or nationalistic president would have the ghost of a chance to alter the present status, except by a coup d'etata, and to accomplish that he would have to have a majority of the people behind him, which Hindenburg does not have since he is a minority president.

He was elected by only a plurality of the popular vote, and while his strength with a large element of the people is conceded, it is asserted that he would not retain any substantial fraction of that strength should he undertake to overthrow the republic.

Not That Kind of a Man.

However, Hindenburg has pledged himself to uphold the constitution and the republic and even his adversaries say he is not the kind of a man to repudiate his oath. It is pointed out that Hindenburg has never posed as a politician and was never a political general. He did his duty to his country, as he saw it, to the best of his ability, endeared himself to his soldiers through an extraordinary

Chinese Astronomer Shatters Tradition On Earth Movement

TOKYO, May.—Chang Chungshan, a Chinese astronomer, and two colleagues, according to dispatches from Shanghai, have invented an instrument which proves that all existing ideas of the solar system are wrong.

This instrument, its inventors claim, is capable of demonstrating that the earth does not move, but that it stands still, suspended in the air like a huge soap-bubble. Around the earth, the Celestial astronomers maintain, the sun and all other heavenly bodies revolve. The savants have written a book in support of their theory, but it has not yet been translated into any foreign language.

It is reported that the Chinese government has given the inventors $7,000 for their device. No information is forthcoming as to where the Chinese government got the $7,000.

CHARM OF WOMEN DEPENDS UPON VITAL GLANDS

Science has found that a deficiency in certain glands in women results in mental sluggishness, irritability, despondency, forgetfulness and fatigue, tendency to sleep a great deal and morning weariness. Even the brilliancy and luster of the hair and the delicate beauty and softness of the skin are impaired if the glands do not function properly.

According to leading authorities the benefits of gland transplantation may be had without an operation; gland substance can be taken internally in tablet form.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store will supply you.

consideration for life and limb, and after he had led the troops back, went into private retreat without taking the slightest part in politics.

It was scarcely to be expected that he would embrace with fervor the new conditions and new governmental order. He had been too staunch a supporter of the kaiser for that. But at the same time he is said to have an open-mindedness and an innate loyalty toward constituted authority which prevented his becoming sullen or hostile.

He accepted the new platform, and when the Kapp-putch of 1921 was frustrated he did not hesitate to send to President Ebert a letter in which he hailed Ebert as the savior of the fatherland. The sudden death of Ebert gave him another opportunity to acknowledge publicly the merits of that leader, but he refused to take a hand in politics until the election of March 29 indicated a woeful disunity among the parties and the people.

Great pressure was brought to bear upon him to persuade him to stand for the presidency, the chief argument being that he commanded the respect of practically all the German people, even those who were antagonistic to everything he was supposed to represent, and that his magnetic personality might bring victory that ultimately would restore order out of chaos.

Hindenburg is said to have yielded reluctantly and only after he had been convinced that it was his duty to his country. When he did consent to make the race he knew exactly what he was doing. He knew that he would have to swear allegiance to the constitution of the republic. His friends say that with him an oath is inviolable, and that no one who knows him can entertain for a moment the slightest doubt about that.

It is not doubted that there were influences behind him that were and are hostile to the new order of things in Germany. There is a considerable element that would like to see a restoration of the old regime, and the leaders of this group may cherish hopes that Hindeburg's election was a long step toward that end. If such is the case, it is insisted in Washington, their hopes are delusions and any effort they may make to realize them will prove abortive.

It is said that the whole make-up of the man offers every guarantee that Hindenburg will never attempt a foolish nor a dishonest thing, even if there were certain groups that would urge him on. His task is not the restoration of the monarchy, but the unification of a sadly split nation, the estaablishment of peace and order, and the fulfillment of a pledge. He will not rock the boat, and will steer clear of all obstacles that may be placed in his way from the inside or the outside.

A bedroom table that at the touch of a button prepares tea and an alarm that catches burglars are features of the ideal home exhibition in London.

GET RID OF CATARRH QUICK

World's Tonic, the Systematic Treatment Quickly Heals the Sores, Sweetens the Horrible Breath and Cleanses the System of Catarrhal Impurities.

Recently a Columbus woman was visiting friends in Dayton where she read a great deal in the newspapers about the wonderful systematic treatment for Catarrh, World's Tonic, so she went to see the World's Tonic man who was at a prominent drug store there and learned from him about some of the wonderful recoveries that had been reported to him by users of this now famous treatment.

Her own recovery was so remarkable that we believe our readers, and especially those suffering from Catarrh, will be greatly interested in her story.

"I suffered from catarrh of the stomach and bladder for years," she said, telling it to the World's Tonic man, after she had taken a course of treatment.

"My catarrh was so bad that I thought I had cancer of the stomach. I spit up great clots of mucus, vomited often, couldn't digest properly even the lightest of foods, lost flesh constantly, suffered intensely from an inflammed bladder and was practically a confirmed invalid. After hearing of World's Tonic, I bought two bottles. The results were amazing. My husband went back to the drug store and bought 6 more. I have taken five altogether now. The vomiting has ceased, my bladder does not trouble me, I can eat and digest my food without difficulty and am gaining in weight again."

Anyone suffering from catarrh in any form should use World's Tonic at once. The price is reasonable.

Sold by Carnahan's, also Brannan's, Wellsville, and all other good druggists.

Fast Fielding and Steady Mound Work Feature Two Tilts

Fowler's Squad Engineers 5 to 2 Victory Over Bricelin's Laughlin Nine at Patterson Field; Double Plays and Base Running Provide Thrills; Four-run Rally in Fifth Frame Enables Riley's Lads to Turn Back Katies, 9 to 4.

FOUR fast double plays, two by each contender, indicated the smart fielding of the Trotter and Laughlin teams in the initial City Industrial league contest at Patterson field on Tuesday evening which the former won, 5 to 2.

Equally arresting was a double steal admirably carried out by Digman and H. Strobel in the fifth inning which gave the West Virginians the second of their two runs.

Barr and Digman waged a pitchers' battle, the former allowing six and the latter seven bingles. Only once, however, did two come in the same inning for the gas office official. This occurred thrice for Digman and scoring resulted on two of the occasions.

Hunselman and Smith, the rival catchers, excelled in their performance.

Myers swatted perfectly for the day while Kinsey led the automobile aggregation with two in three appearances. He also landed three flies in right.

V. Bailey dropped Heckathorne's long fly to left in the second inning and held up at the keystone corner from where he scored on Herbert's single. The latter reached second on the play at the plate and counted on Hunselman's single to middle.

Watson, doubling to left in the fourth, scored Myers, who had singled sharply through third.

E. Bayley singled in the fourth. Hunselman walked. Barr scarificed, Digman to Babb. J. Strobel drove to Watson and E. Watson registered as the put out was made at first, Hunselman going to third from where he scored on a wild pitch.

With two down in the fifth Digman singled and reached third when A. Bayley dropped H. Strobel's fly. He counted on a double steal, beautifully executed.

Coming up from behind, Chester overcome the lead of K. T. K. at Columbian park, Tuesday evening and handily won, 9 to 4.

The K. T. K. infield faltered in the fifth and four runs were made Chester going into the front from which it was not dislodged.

Cebula got away to a bad start and three wins were made off him in the first inning. Then he settled down and blanked his opponents in all but the third inning when another tally was permitted by him.

Stoffel allowed eight hits but his ragged support at critical junctures was too much of a handicap for him.

The fielding features of the game were made by Shaw and P. Bennett.

READY TO PICK NEW CHAMPION

Goodrich Probably Will Occupy Leonard's Throne.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, May 20.—With the utmost gravity and aplomb, the New York State Athletic commission is about to hail a new lightweight champion of the world from among the four remaining survivors of an elimination tourney. He will be named to replace Benny Leonard, the well known and dutiful son, and it will be like driving home a needle in place of a nail.

There are four men left in the running and none of them assay more than 50 per cent. They are, named in the order of their ability, Jimmy Goodrich, of Buffalo; Benny Valgar, of New York, and the foreign entries, Loayza, of Chile, and Olano, of Cuba.

Within a month, one of them will be duly escorted to the throne upon which Gans, Nelson, McAuliffe, Lavigne and other immortals sat, and invited to make himself at home. No peasant in the palace could occupy a more incongruous role.

Somehow, the lightweight division never has had an unrepresentative champion, but it cannot very well escape the stigma now. He will not deserve to be coupled in the same pany with Gans, Nelson and the others.

Goodrich is perhaps the best of the lot and at one time he looked the part of a fighter. But during recent months, he has been in a steady slump, and only through the grace of circumstances has he reached the semi-final round of the tournament. The spectators almost rioted when his first round match with Eddie Kid Wagner, of Philadelphia, was called a draw at the end of 10 rounds. But they fairly frothed at the mouth when Goodrich was named as the winner after two extra rounds. Both decisions were alleged to have been all to the falsetto.

Many, likewise, did not agree with the verdict that gave Goodrich the decision over Clyde Jackle, and two nights ago, the Buffalo entry was awarded the fight when hit low by Sammy Mandell. The latter was a heavy winner on points when the foul occurred.

So much for Goodrich. He is the man who is generally favored to survive the ultimate issue and Valgar, a light hitting, holding, safety first young man, is next in line.

The foreigners, Loayza and Olano, can be dismissed without a preamble. They are in the tourney only to give it tone and refinement or something.

Mandell, of course, was the best man in the lists. He is wondrously fast and his gameness is above suspicion. He is an interesting boxer to watch and altogether is the only lightview on view at the present who could be acceptable as a champion. The winner of the tourney will receive scant consideration until he takes on Mandel in a post-series match.

SCHOLASTICS TIE WITH FOES

Stage 5-5 Clash With Wellsville Nine.

The East Liverpool Scholastics and the Wellsville Central A. C. played to a 5-5 tie yesterday afternoon at Patterson field, the game being called at the end of the fifth inning in order to allow two City Industrial league teams to take the field for the scheduled contest.

The Scholastics outhit the Wellsville lads, collecting seven bingles off the curves of Pitcher Rose. Captain McConville laced out a double and a triple.

Schneidmiller started the game in the box for the locals, but was driven to the tall timbers in the third. English went to the hilltop and stemmed the attack.

Pusey's home run in the fourth was the batting feature of the day.

Collett Is Defeated After Erratic Game

By Harry Flory.

TROON, Scotland, May 20.—Larks sang their merry lay in the tree tops along the fairways today but their song found no response in the gallant little heart of Miss Glenna Collett, former American women's golf champion. Fighting gamely to the last, Miss Collett went down to defeat at the capable hands of Miss Joyce Wethered, perennial British champion, in the third round of the women's open championship.

The score was 4 up and 3 to play, the American conceding defeat on the fifteenth green after a 10-foot putt had rolled off the line.

A crowd of 3,000 followed the match and exhibited the best of good sportsmanship toward the quiet, little visitor. The weather was misty but quite without wind, a distinct favor to Miss Collett's long driving. In fact, everything was in her favor except her own game, which was not typical of her best at any time.

The American's errors at the fifth, sixth and ninth holes sent Miss Wethered to the turn, 1 up. Miss Collett won the third and eighth through superior play. The American was two over par for the first nine.

Successive birdies gave Miss Wethered the tenth and eleventh where the American again erred. She lost the fourteenth, and incidentally all chance of winning the match, by taking three putts.

The match ended on the fifteenth hole. Miss Collett missed a ten-foot putt, halving the hole and giving the match to Miss Wethered.

Stops your car Quicker!

"I stopped my car in 28 feet going 20 miles an hour!"

"I HAVE made a test," says Joe M. Woods, of 1514 Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill., "and I find that I can stop my Oldsmobile, equipped with two-wheel brakes, lined with Rusco Brake Lining, in 28 feet, going 20 miles per hour."

That's how safe Rusco-lined, properly adjusted two-wheel brakes will make your car. A lining will pass police inspection if it will stop in 35 feet going 20 miles per hour. Rusco stops 7 feet quicker! With death or a costly crash just ahead, 7 feet leeway is a godsend.

Wet weather makes no difference

RUSCO is an all-weather lining. It will grip and hold just as well in wet weather as in dry. Water makes no difference to Rusco's stopping ability. It is treated with a special compound that makes it resist water, oil, dirt and wear. It will not burn.

Your repair man pays more for Rusco than for other brands of lining but he doesn't charge you more.

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand. When your brakes need relining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job. Have your brakes inspected and relined at any of the garages listed below. They are brake lining experts, using special electrical equipment for counter-sinking rivets in lining and riveting lining to brake band.

Tagging The Bases

The Tigers made human hamburger out of Jones and Johnson in the sixth and seventh innings and won easily from the Yankees, 11 to 5. Wells and Cole left-handing the Hugman silly.

Kaufman's pitching and the hitting of Griffith and Friberg stopped the Giants winning streak of eight straight, the Cubs stepping in to an 8 to 2 verdict.

Harper's homer off Watson with the bases filled gave the Phillies an 8 to 4 decision over the Cardinals.

Walter Johnson, pinch hitting for Ogden, socked a homer off Shaute with one on in the ninth and the Senators beat the Indians, 4 to 3.

Except for Miller's homer with two on in the ninth, Lyons had the Athletics absolutely in the hip pocket and the White Sox won, 4 to 3.

The Browns hit Quinn with enthusiasm and won from the Red Sox, 8 to 2. Bush finally staking himself to a victory.
